Reading Champion Sheep Easy To Name, Hard To Pick

ANDY ANDREWS
Lancaster Farming Staff

KUTZTOWN (Berks Co.) — Supreme champion ewe may have been a challenge to select for Marlyn Stroh, Cheviot sheep breeder and Erdenheim Farm manager from Lafayette Hill, on Monday at the Reading Fair.

But for exhibitor Todd Lee Bennecoff Jr., it was no trouble to name.

The Dorset yearling ewe was named "Dufus," according to Todd. It was all in the way she acted — kind of clumsy, was the word.

For Stroh, sheep judge, it was an "easier job selecting the supreme ram than (it was) selecting the supreme ewe," he said. But in the end, the Dorset ewe was a "nice, correct individual, with good size and scale for the individual that it is."

Stroh indicated to the exhibitors that the strength and weaknesses for any flock reside in the ewes themselves.

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — From October 9 to 18, the State Farm Show Arena in Harrisburg, PA will bustle daily from dawn until long after dark with a thousand horses and riders. These equestrians, "the best of the best" from throughout the United States, Canada, and Mexico will travel thousands of miles to Harrisburg to compete for more than $225,000 in prize money and a number of coveted national championships in the 52nd annual Pennsylvania National Horse Show.

The Pennsylvania National Horse Show is truly the "Show of Champions," as horses and riders spend a year competing for enough points to earn acceptance in the hunter, jumper, and equitation divisions. Draft horse, saddlebred, western, roadster, and hackney pony divisions add to the show's attraction, as do special events such as the Budweiser Clydesdales, who appear nightly from Wednesday, October 15, through Saturday, October 18. The show, sponsored by the Kiwanis Club of Harrisburg, has raised more than $1.4 million for central Pennsylvania youth organizations since 1945.

The show opens with Junior Weekend, October 9 to 12. Riders under age 18 fight to control their own nerves as well as those of their horses as they compete against the top young riders from

Wind Drift Natema Wins Third State Holstein Fall Championship

VERNON ACHENBACH JR.

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — Wind Drift AJ Natema, a cow owned by the Ford City syndicate of Alex Claypoole, Mark Campbell, and Doug Beatty, on Tuesday was named grand champion of the Pennsylvania Holstein Association's Fall Championship Show at the state Farm Show Complex.

Born November 1988, it is the third time the large-framed cow won the state fall championship title. She previously won it in 1994 and 1995.

Natema, a Bridon Astro Jet daughter was entered in the 125,000-pound production class for the show. That class recognizes those cows that have made at least 125,000 pounds of milk in their lifetime, as evidenced by Dairy Herd Improvement Association records. It was reported that Natema had made 135,000 pounds of milk to date, and has a 305-day lactation record as a 6-year-old of 35,728 pounds milk, 1,428 pounds fat, and 1,052 pounds protein.

The second place animal in that class, New-Direction Jet Cameo, owned by Alan McCauley, of Elizabethtown, was the reserve grand champion of the show. Cameo has also been a high achieving showring performer for the McCauleys, who operate Em-Tran Inc., in Elizabethtown.

Cameo is also a Bridon Astro Jet daughter. While her total production was not available, she made 27,157 pounds of milk as a 4-year-old in 305 days.

Alan McCauley received best bred and owned honors for Cameo in the open division of the show.

The PHA Fall Championship was held in conjunction with the Pennsylvania All-American Dairy Show, which features national and regional level dairy shows for six dairy cattle breeds.

The PHA showing program holds a spring state show, district shows throughout the summer, and the fall show.

National Grain Market

St. Joseph, MO
Wed, Sept 24, 1997

USDA-MO Dept Ag Market News

DAILY NATIONAL GRAIN SUMMARY

The wheat market fell slightly lower on lack of fresh export demand overnight. However, indications are that some good sales could come later in the week. Corn bids were moderately lower in reaction to harvest pressure. Declines were limited, however, due to a very good corn export purchase by South Korea. Soybean bids turned sharply higher due to some harvest delays as rains in parts of the Midwest kept farmers out of fields. Some fund buying on the board was also a sup- porting factor in higher bean bids. Wheat steady to 7 cents lower. Corn 1 to 6 cents lower. Sorghum 2 to 7 cents lower. Soybeans 7 to 27 cents higher.

Oklahoma City Feeder Cattle

Oklahoma City, OK
Wed Sep 24, 1997

USDA-OK Dept Ag Market News

Oklahoma National Stockyards - Weekly Cattle Summary

Compared to last week: Feeder steers 1.00-2.00 lower; feeder heifers 2.00 lower. Demand moderate for feeders. Steer and heifer calves 3.00-6.00 lower. Demand light for general run of calves as farmers continue to wait for rain. Rain chances improving with a storm system moving toward central Oklahoma Monday evening. Slow moving system did materialize Monday night providing slow soaker of 1.5-3.5 inches of rain statewide. This should be of benefit to upcoming calf markets. Last Friday's cattle on feed report had little appreciable effect on the feeder market despite continued strong placements. Lower futures last midweek along with light movement from feedlots a more probable cause of the lower feeder markets. Quality of supply average with several strings of fancy calves included. Feeder flesh medium. Calf flesh medium to moderately fleshy. Weigh-ups full to mostly average and improved for buyers. Slaughter cows and bulls 1.00-1.50 higher. Packer demand good. Country buyers active for thin cows headed to fall pastures and feedlots. Total of 675 cows and bulls sold with 60 percent going to packers. Receipts this week 11,200; last week 11,692; last year 14,255. The OLD FARMER'S THIS WEEK WITH ALMANAC

SEPT. 29-OCT. 5, 1997

ROSH HASHANAH, OCTOBER 2.

MERRY MICHAELMAS

Called either a prince or a general, Michael was the handsome young man commanded to drive the rebel angels out of heaven He's often depicted as a stern-faced, winged angel in armor and sometimes carries the scales of justice, as well as his lance and shield Longfellow's "Golden Legend" claims Michael is governed by Mercury and brings prudence to man Traditional foods for Michaelmas Day (September 29) include new wine, roast goose, and cakes of oats, barley, and rye In ancient Great Britain, the goose was considered a sacrifice to the saint The feast day honors not just Michael, but all angels

I bear upon my hands the gift of heavenly prudence here.

– Michael in The Miracle Play by H W Longfellow

TIP OF THE WEEK

☞ To minimize fat spatters, roast goose in a brown bag, pierced at the bottom, and placed on a rack in the pan.

OATCAKES

- 3/4 cup flour
- 3/4 cup oats
- 2 teaspoons baking powder
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 2 teaspoons maple syrup
- 2 eggs
- 1 cup milk
- 2 tablespoons butter, melted

Blend dry ingredients, then add wet ones and stir Grease skillet or griddle, heated to about 400° F, and cook cakes as you would pancakes, flipping once Serve with more syrup, or with hot fruit or cottage cheese

Makes about 16 cakes, to serve 4.

The OLD FARMER'S WEATHER PROVERBS

Autumn days come quickly, like the running of a hound on the moor. – Irish proverb

The devil sets his foot on the blackberries on Michaelmas Day (Sept. 29).

Holly berries shining red mean a long winter, 'tis said.

October has 21 fair days.

OPINION

Farmers Are "Esteemed And Admired"

The results of a new comprehensive opinion survey show that farmers are "esteemed and admired" by the general American public. This may be suprising to many people in agriculture because the negative aspects of farming seem to get the headlines. But according to the survey, designed and conducted by Doane Marketing Research for DuPont Agricultural Products, farming probably enjoys greater credibility and support than many leading corporations and industries, both here and abroad.

Specifically, the public values and acknowledges farmers in three compelling dimensions. First, for making strong contributions to society; second, for taking a leadership role as stewards of the land they live on and manage; and third, for delivering a safe, abundant supply of quality products to the marketplace at a fair price.

A sample of 773 adults was drawn to represent the general public. The survey of the general public finds high levels of admiration for the nation's farmers and strong recognition of the contributions they make to U.S. society. The public views farmers as honest and friendly people who work hard to serve the needs of society without demanding large profits in return.

Farmers are cited among the top three groups, making important contributions to society. From the list of eight professions, the public ranks farmers above scientists and other professionals, and slightly behind teachers and firefighters.

These results are gratifying. It shows us that all the intentional negative press farmers receive has not warped the thinking of consumers as much as we have been led to believe. Yes, farmers are "esteemed and admired." The response in the public survey is clear.

To Adjust Ventilation Fans

Changing fall temperatures makes ventilation of barns challenging Tie stall dairy barns can be ventilated automatically with a bank of thermostatic controlled exhaust fans. Glenn Shirk, Lancaster County Extension Dairy Agent, recommends these fans be installed in one of the side walls near the middle of the barn Long barns, housing 60 to 80 cows or more, should have two banks of exhaust fans Equally important are adjustable air inlets located throughout the barn to regulate air flow One of these fans should run continuously and should move 50 cubic feet per minute (cfm) of air per 1,000 pounds of body weight. This helps to keep the air fresh at all times The remaining fans should move an additional 150 cfm of air per 1,000 pounds of body weight Thermostats should be adjusted so these fans will start when barn temperatures reach 50 degrees Fahrenheit

To Locate Pesticide Information

According to Robert Anderson, Lancaster County Extension Agronomy Agent, Oregon State University and the Environmental Protection Agency have set up the National Pesticide Telecommunications Network (NPTN) They provide objective, science based information about a wide variety of pesticide related topics including pesticide products, pesticide poisonings, toxicology and environmental chemistry. NPTN is open to questions from the public and professionals It is staffed by highly qualified and trained pesticide specialists This is a toll free information service available

Monday through Friday from 9.30 am to 7 30 pm Eastern Time The telephone number is 800-858-7378 and E-mail is npnt@ace orst edu Their world wide web address is http //ace orst edu/info/nptn/

To Re-seed Lawns

Dr Timothy Elkner, Lancaster County Extension Horticultural Agent, reminds us this summer's drought was hard on many lawns. You may be noticing thinned or even dead areas in your yard. If you do not get grass to fill these areas before next summer the weeds will. Fall is the best time of year to do any work on your yard. This is because the weather is cooler and generally a little wetter and there is less weed pressure. There are a few basic steps you should follow in order to successfully establish new turf grass in your yard. First, loosen the soil in the area you plan to re-seed.

If you are going to seed in an area where there is grass already growing, firmly rake the area to remove any dead grass and expose the soil below.

Then seed the area with the appropriate type of turf grass mixture. You should always plant a turf grass mixture rather than a single type of grass. After you seed the area, rake the seed in or lightly roll the area, water and then apply a starter fertilizer at the recommended rate.

Maintenance of the newly seeded area in the fall consists of maintaining proper moisture and keeping any fallen leaves removed. Do not mow the new turf grass until it reaches three inches high. Next spring be sure to fertilize your lawn using a standard turf grass fertilizer. You may apply weed control products in the spring as well.

THE DAY OF SMALL THINGS
September 28, 1997

Background Scripture
Zechariah 4
Devotional Reading:
Zechariah 7:1-10

Edmund Burke spoke of the intoxication of power and Sir J.E.E. Dalberg in one of his letters penned those words that are quoted whenever the subject of power is seriously considered: "Power corrupts and absolute power corrupts absolutely."

Those of us who do not consider ourselves to be among the powerful know how corrupting power is to those who are powerful. Ask any of us and we will testify to "corruption in high places." But power corrupts not only the powerful, but also those of us who consider ourselves to be the powerless. There is a natural and persistent human preoccupation with things big and powerful — the biggest, grandest and most powerful.

Conversely, we are generally unresponsive to that which is small. With a few exceptions we assume that if something is small it is deficient in power. Big is powerful; small is not. And that is why we are so contemptuous of things small — they appear to be lacking in power and power is what impresses us.

DAUNTING OBSTACLES

In the day of Zechariah — which was roughly the same time as that of Haggai — there were lots of people who were contemptuous of the small efforts that had been put forth to rebuild the temple. Zerubbabel, the governor of the returned exiles, had laid the foundations to the temple, but the efforts seemed puny and insignificant in light of what would have to be accomplished. Considering the obstacles that confronted Zerubbabel and Joshua, the high priest, these beginnings looked totally inadequate.

In a sense, we may say that this was the difference between Zerubbabel and his critics. He kept his eyes focused on the goal, while they saw only the obstacles. Someone has said that obstacles are those terrible shadows you see when you take your eyes off the goal. Zerubbabel kept his eyes on the goal and so he was undaunted by these small, modest beginnings.

Eventually, said the prophet Zechariah, these scoffers would see what Zerubbabel already was seeing. "For whoever has despised the day of small things shall rejoice, and shall see the plummet in the hand of the Zerubbabel" (4:10). The plummet was a plumb line and the prophet is speaking metaphorically as using it to measure integrity.) Some things never change, do they! We still are cynical about "the day of small things."

NOT BY MIGHT

It is in the midst of all this cynicism about Zerubbabel's modest efforts to rebuild the temple that God sends Zechariah a prophetic lucid dream. In a semi-awakened state, an angel said to the prophet: "What do you see?" "I see," answered Zechariah, "and behold a lampstand all of gold, with a bowl on the top of it, and seven lamps on it . . . And there are two olive trees by it, one on the right of the bowl and the other on its left." Then Zechariah said to the angel, "What are these, my Lord?" And the angel said to him, "This is the word of the Lord to Zerubbabel . . . Not by might, nor by power, but by my Spirit, says the Lord of hosts."

Modest human efforts sustained by the power of God can accomplish whatever goal God sets before us. Without the power of God, yes, the efforts of Zerubbabel were laughingly inadequate. The power of God is just as manifest in little things as it is big ones. That is what the world finds so hard to understand about the Spirit of God, just as my generation had a hard time understanding how enough explosive power to destroy a whole city could be locked up into the interior of something so tiny and seemingly insignificant as the atom.

Atomic scientist Albert Einstein once observed that "Gandhi had demonstrated that a powerful human following can be assembled not only through the cunning game of the usual political maneuvers and trickeries but through the cogent example of a morally superior conduct of life. In our time of utter moral decadence he was the only statesman to stand for a higher human relationship in the political sphere."

The power of Gandhi, like the power of Jesus Christ, was a power born not of secular things, but of the Spirit of God.

NEW YORK — The butter futures market has recovered somewhat in recent sessions as the industry "sorts out the supply and demand situation," a trader said. One trader said he believes butter is in the wrong hands, which has kept those dealers who are short the physical scrambling for immediate supplies.

According to traders, butter prices are firm as those printing butter are short the physical and nearly all the fresh butter is committed to buyers already.

"There is very little butter around that isn't already earmarked with a buyer," one broker said.

In the week ending Sep. 20, there were 47 certified warehouses with 33.511 million pounds of butter in storage, down 3.116 million pounds from the previous week.

FUTURES AND CASH PRICES

Basic Formula Price futures contracts traded on the Coffee, Sugar and Cocoa Exchange were unchanged on Tuesday. Sep settled at $12.64/cwt, while Oct settled at $12.54/cwt. Traders said they expect the Sep contract to settle near $12.70/cwt before expiration next week ahead of the USDA's announcement of the BFP.

BFP open interest at the CSCE has fallen substantially in the past month, but on Tuesday, total open interest rose 2 lots to 957 lots after trading well-over 1,000 lots through most of the summer.

The cheese market in the Midwest is fairly steady. At the Chicago Mercantile Exchange, 40-pound blocks were unchanged at $1.3925 on Sep 18, while barrels rose 0.5c to $1.3250 per pound. Some scaling down of initial inventories were seen in processor stockpiles while seasonal production is at a normal low.

At the CME, Grade AA butter rose 6¾ c to $1.1450 Sep 19, while Grade A increased 7c to

All seven will be honored at the annual National Dairy Shrine awards banquet at World Dairy Expo on October 2, 1997.

Winner of the top $1,000 scholarship is Carrie Bryant, Honesdeale, PA. Receiving $500 scholarship are Leslie Cline, Corchanton, PA; Susan Key, Talbott, TN; Matthew Meyer, Bern, KS; Wendy Meyer, Ravenna, NE; Amy Pool-Krahn, Hood River, OR; and Karen Veiga, Sunnyside, WA.

Carrie Bryant ($1,000)

Carrie Bryant was called a "visionary leader" and "a bridge builder among people" by her professors in dairy and animal science at The Pennsylvania State University.

While president of the Penn State University Dairy Science Club, Bryant successfully shifted the organization's focus to consumer and youth-oriented activities, earning the club top honors from the American Dairy Science Association (ADSA). Her innovations included "Calf for a Cause," which raised over $7,000 for charity and Dairy Expo Commodity Tailgate, which marketed Pennsylvania animal agriculture to 25,000 football fans. Bryant also revitalized the club's Dairy Jubilee on campus, attracting 900 students and regional television coverage.

Bryant's other leadership roles while at Penn State included president of the ADSA Student Affiliate Division, vice president of the Undergraduate Student Government and vice president of the Ag Student Council. Before her graduation in May, Bryant completed internships with American Cyanamid Company and the American Dairy Association and Dairy Council MidEast and participated in a student exchange program with California Polytechnic State University. She intends to enter graduate school after gaining professional experience in dairy marketing and communications.

Leslie Cline ($500)

Lobbying in support of agricultural legislation is a long-term goal for Leslie Cline, who earned a degree in dairy science and animal science from Delaware Valley College, Doylestown, PA, in May. Cline plans to use her $500 DMI scholarship to pursue a masters of business degree in marketing.

While an undergraduate, Cline was active in National Agri-Marketing Associaiton, Dairy Society and Block & Bridle, and was selected from over 200 applicants as a Delaware Valley College Agricultural Ambassador. In that year-long assignment, she represented the college at local, regional, state and national functions.

Susan Key ($500)

Susan Key, a 4.0 student a the University of Tennessee, says she got "hooked" on dairy marketing through positive experiences with 4-H food and nutrition projects and dairy product judging team competitions. She will graduate in May, 1999, with a major in food science and technology and a minor in general business, and plans to attend graduate school on her way to a career in dairy product development.

On campus, Key is active in Food Tech Club, Alumni Association and Alpha Zeta. She it a Team Vols community volunteer and 1996 University of Tennessee Emerging Leader.

Matthew Meyer ($500)

Matthew Meyer, also a 4.0 student, is majoring in animal science and industry at Kansas State University where he worked with fellow members of the KSU Dairy Science Club members to transform an old camper trailer into a mobile ice cream shop. The trailer appears at fairs and other community events to promote both the club and the Kansas dairy industry.

Meyer's coursework at KSU has included honors program research into milk parlor sanitation and development of a rapid, on-the-farm somatic cell count test. Following graduation in May, 1998, he plans to pursue masters and doctorate degrees in dairy cattle management and nutrition.

Wendy Meyer ($500)

Wendy Meyer has a double major in ag communications and sociology at Hastings College, Hastings, NE. On campus, she is dorm president, vice president of the Student Health Advisory Council, treasurer of the Multicultural Student Union and dorm representative on Student Senate. She has been active in 4-H and FFA dairy activities, earning the 1995 National FFA Speciality Animal Production Proficiency Award for her dairy marketing operation.

Meyer's future plans include graduation in May, 1998 and a career in the dairy industry, either in marketing or public relations.

Amy Pool-Krahn ($500)

As Oregon Dairy Princess and an Ambassador for the Oregon State University Colleges of Agricultural Sciences, Forestry and Natural Resources, Amy Poole-Krahn has had ample experience with marketing and promotion.

At OSU, Poole-Krahn also is active in the Dairy Club, dairy judging team, dairy products judging team and Collegiate FFA. In June, 1998, she will receive a B.S. degree in animal science, with a dairy production option and a minor in agricultural business management. Poole-Krahn plans to attend graduate school in agriculture and hopes eventually to serve as a dairy industry lobbyist in the Oregon Legislature.

Karen Veiga ($500)

Karen Veiga has utilized her marketing skills as 1994-95 Yakima Valley Dairy Ambassador and through her counselwork at Washington State University. She has developed successful promotional campaigns through a marketing class, entered two national marketing competitions and is currently working on an independent study university marketing research project. Her campus activities include the WSU Marketing Club and American Marketing Association Collegiate Division.

Veiga will graduate from WSU in May, 1999 with a degree in marketing and is considering graduate school to enhance her future opportunities in agricultural business.

Drought Brings Health Danger For Cattle

COLLEGE PARK, Md. — Many dairy and beef cattle producers in the Mid-Atlantic region face a double whammy this year. Not only is there a growing shortage of forages; but feeding drought-stressed crops could be deadly for their cattle.

So says Lester Vough, forage crops specialist for the University of Maryland's Cooperative Extension Service.

The problem, Dr. Vough recently explained, is nitrate poisoning, particularly in severely drought-stunted corn.

Some animals already have died from this malady in central Maryland, he reported, and producers should be aware of the potential danger.

Excessively high levels of nitrogen are likely to occur in corn and other forages that have been growing under stress conditions, such as when corn has been fertilized for high grain yield and becomes stunted by drought.

Vough noted that some soil moisture is necessary for plants to absorb and accumulate nitrates. On the other hand, the resumption of normal plant growth after a heavy rainfall will reduce nitrate accumulation. So harvesting a crop for forage should be delayed three to five days after the rainfall.

How can farmers cope with nitrate toxicity?

Vough suggested these management practices:

• Cut the forage for silage. The fermentation process will reduce nitrate levels. Delay feeding the silage for about four weeks to make sure the fermentation process is complete.

• When chopping corn for silage, include only the top two-thirds of the plant. The bottom third always has the highest nitrate accumulation.

• Before feeding forage, have it chemically analyzed for nitrate content.

On this last point, the Maryland Department of Agriculture now offers free nitrate testing to farmers in drought-stricken counties of the state.

Samples should be taken to county offices of the Cooperative Extension Service throughout Maryland. They will be forwarded to the MDA state chemist in Annapolis for testing.

Mid-Atlantic Forest Seminar Nov. 1

COLLEGE PARK, Md. — Woodland owners interested in learning how to attract wildlife, market forest products, manage deer damage, and establish riparian forest buffers are invited to attend the Mid-Atlantic Forest Stewardship Seminar Nov. 1 in Frederick, Md.

The seminar, sponsored by the Maryland Cooperative Extension Service and other state and private natural resources agencies, has been held annually since 1982. Last year's program received the Northeast Regional Excellence in Forest and Woodland Enhancement/Tree Farming Award from the National Association of County Agricultural Agents.

This year's seminar will be held from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. at Frederick Community College on Oppossumtown Pike. During the opening session, outstanding woodland owners will share their experiences about noncommercial timber stand improvement, the challenges of inheriting family property, and using their property for education and outreach.

Then, during four break-out workshop sessions, speakers from the Maryland Cooperative Extension Service, Maryland Department of Natural Resources, Winstar Wildlife Institute, and Parkton Woodland Services will then discuss a variety of forest-related subjects, including computer forestry/wildlife software and websites, conservation of grassland wildlife, black walnut and paulownia culture, forest reptiles and amphibians, riparian forest buffers, the marketing of forest products, strategies for managing deer damage, and recreational access/landowner liability issues.

Advance registration is required. The registration fee is $15 per person or $25 for two people if received by Oct. 24. Afterward, the price increases to $17 per person. The fee includes coffee, donuts, lunch, and educational handouts.

For more information or to request a brochure/registration form, call Terry Poole, extension agricultural educator in Frederick County, at (301) 694-1594, ext. 3576.

STATE COLLEGE (Centre Co.) — Research out of the University of Tennessee shows that a case of clinical mastitis before first service prolongs the time before a cow gets bred.

According to the research, cows with clinical mastitis in early lactation were first-serviced a full cycle (23 days) later than cows which did not have mastitis.

Add to that discarding treated milk in early lactation and reduced milk yield from cows with mastitis and you can see that for the sake of breeding, milk and profit it would be good to set a goal to reduce mastitis within the first 90 days of milk.

Why is it then that many producers seem to have problems with early lactation cows, the very ones that we want to keep from getting mastitis?

There are several reasons. It would be good to consider whether these apply to your herd.

Consider these possiblities:

A cow may freshen with the same mastitis that she has been infected with since dry-off. To find out if this is a problem with your herd, check your records. Are cows that have mastitis in early lactation the same ones that had mastitis at the end of their previous lactation? Is it in the same quarter? Infections of Staph aureus are very difficult to cure even if with a dry treatment because of the nature of the bacteria which walls itself off in the udder and is thus protected from the antibiotic.

Secondly, consider the calving environment and the immediate care at calving. The cow, as well as the calf, is very prone to new infections at this time. She may be leaking, the calf may be allowed to suckle, the environment may be wet and contaminated. Any of these may be all the opening that is needed for bacteria to invade the teat and gain a foothold in the cow.

Thirdly, think about the stress that cow is under; stress on her immune system and her ability to fight off infections. Maybe the same practices that have acceptable results for most of the herd are not good enough at this time of acute stress. Maybe you should consider special practices for early lactation cows if you have been having a problem with early mastitis. Special practices could involve extra cleaning, extra bedding, barrier type teat dip, a milk-first routine or other special care practices which may not only be impractical for the whole herd, but unnecessary.

Take it seriously enough to do it right.

But, before you start anything, honestly evaluate the performance of your herd on early lactation mastitis. Record not only the clinical cases but also those which are, by DHIA criteria, new infections.

Go back in your records and determine the extent of the problem. Write it down. Then set a goal for the level that you believe you can achieve within three months or six months. Write that down too!

Now start by taking the steps to change the situation you have.

The payback will be tremendous when you reduce early lactation mastitis; in milk, in breeding, and importantly, in money.

Emergency Statewide Hearing Set To Consider Modifying Over-Order Premium

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN pursuant to the Milk Marketing Law, 31 P.S. § 700j-101 et. seq., that the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania Milk Marketing Board ("Board") will conduct an emergency public hearing for all milk marketing areas on October 10, 1997, commencing at 9:00 a.m. in Meeting Room B on the second floor of the Farm Show Complex, Cameron and Maclay Streets, Harrisburg, Pennsylvania.

The purpose of the emergency hearing is to receive evidence concerning whether the current over-order premium of $.80 per hundredweight, as established by Official General Order A-894, should be increased based on changed circumstances that are causing severe economic stress for Pennsylvania's dairy farmers, as requested in petitions filed by the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture, the Pennsylvania State Grange, and the Pennsylvania Farm Bureau.

The petitioners and the staff of the Board are deemed to be parties to this hearing and to have complied with the following filing requirements. Other persons who wish to present evidence may be included on the Board's list of parties by (1) having their attorney file with the Board on or before October 3, 1997, a notice of appearance substantially in the form prescribed by I Pa. Code § 31.25 or (2) if unrepresented by counsel, filing with the Board on or before October 3, 1997, notification of their desire to be included as a party.

Evidence deemed by the Board to be relevant to this hearing includes but is not limited to:

1. The current average cost of milk production in Pennsylvania and current average dairy farm income in Pennsylvania compared with that data for April 1977, when the Board established the $.80 over-order premium now in effect

2. Prevailing prices and associated premiums for milk in New York, Maryland, Ohio, New Jersey, and Virginia, along with the cost of transporting that milk into Pennsylvania

3. Supply-demand patterns that affect the marketing of milk in Pennsylvania

4. Effect of an increased over-order premium on decisions by lending institutions to extend credit to dairy farmers

Presubmission of testimony and exhibits is not required. However, copies of written testimony and exhibits shall be provided at the hearing to members of the Board and to all other parties, with at least twenty (20) additional copies made available in the hearing room by their sponsor.

Parties that wish to offer in evidence documents on file with the Board, public documents, or records in other proceedings before the Board, or who wish the Board to take official notice of facts, shall comply with, respetively, 1 Pa. Code § 35.164, 35.165, 35.167, or 35.173.

A prehearing conference for all parties will be held at 2:00 p.m. on October 6, 1997, in Room 110 of the Agriculture Building, 2301 North Cameron Street, Harrisburg, Pennsylvania.

The filing address for the Board is Pennsylvania Milk Marketing Board, Room 110, Agriculture Building, 2301 North Cameron Street, Harrisburg, PA 17110-9408.

Reading Champion Sheep Easy To Name, Hard To Pick

Todd Lee Bennecoff Jr., 9, is the son of Todd and Cheryl Bennecoff, Kutztown. He's in the 4th grade in the Northwestern School District. The ewe was obtained from the Snyders in Kutztown. This was Todd's first sheep championship at Reading.

Champion ram was awarded to Amanda Miller, 12, daughter of Ron and Joan Miller, Womelsdorf. The spring ram, named "Mr. Goodbar," was homebred.

Stroh said the ram is a "very clean-fronted individual, with a lot of extension in the neck and dock." For the Southdown ram, "what you see is what's there."

Amanda, in the 6th grade at Bethel Center Elementary School, names all her sheep after candy bars — and Mr. Goodbar was no exception. She will be showing at the Keystone International Livestock Expo and at the state Farm Show.

Earlier in the day, Kelly Glaser won champion fitting and showing. Reserve champion fitter went to Amanda Miller and reserve showmanship to Nicole Knepp.

At the market lamb show, it was "marketability" that defined the champion lamb, according to the show judge. In the end, Justin Levan captured supreme market lamb with his middleweight champion, a 103-pound Hampshire and Cheviot crossbred ewe.

Justin, 15, is the son of Paul and Shirley Levan, Hamburg. He's a sophomore at Tulpehocken High School. This is his first Reading market lamb champion.

Reserve went to Amanda Miller, the middleweight reserve champion, weighing 91 pounds, a purebred Southdown.

In all, there were a total of 23 exhibitors and 148 sheep, including 41 market lambs. Following is a list of show placings:

Pennsylvania National Horse Show For America's Top Riders

Canada, Mexico and the United States. It is here, on Saturday, October 11, that future superstars jump courses patterned after the Olympics in the American Horse Shows Association/Black Entertainment Television Junior Jumper Championsbips. It is also here, on Sunday October 12, that more than 200 riders culminate a year of competition as they vie for the American Horse Shows Association/Eisers & Pessca National Hunter Seat Equitation Medal Championship. The winners of both competitions are assured their spot in show jumping history, and take a step closer to representing their countries in international and Olympic competition.

A week of variety follows, beginning Monday, October 13 with Hunt Night, and evening of friendly rivalry between the mid-Atlantic region's top hunts. Classes for teams and individuals test the skills required of horses, riders and hounds in foxhunting, and include a Parade of Hounds, the North American Fox Hunting Horn Blowing Championships, and races over fences for the very popular Jack Russell terriers.

Classes on Tuesday night, October 14, feature "local" riders, those from within a fifty mile radius of Harrisburg. Local competition allows families and friends to see the skill required to be successful in this sport where men and women of all ages compete as equals.

Competition for a variety of divisions begins Wednesday, October 15 and runs through Saturday, October 18. American Saddlebreds have been called "the world's most beautiful horse" and the "peacocks of the show ring" because of their lofty head carriage, high action and thrilling performances. In contrast, in the western divisions, an easy-going relaxed style is needed. Roadster horses and ponies love the crowd's cheers as they race at top speed around the arena. Tiny Hackney ponies stand in contrast to draft horses, the thundering "gentle giants" which have become one of the show's most popular divisions.

While hunter divisions take up most of the daytime schedule, jumpers are featured nightly Tuesday through Saturday, October 14 to 18. Whether it's Tuesday's Power and Speed class, Wednesday's Gambler's Choice, Thursday's Pennsylvania Big Jump, Friday's Hit and Hurry or the grand finale, the $50,000 Budweiser Grand Prix de Penn National, the action is breathtaking as horses are asked to clear jumps as high as five feet and as wide as six feet. The Budweiser Grand Prix on Saturday, October 18 is a World Cup Qualifying Event and is taped for broadcast on ESPN. The classes feature only the country's most accomplished horses and riders in tests of athleticism, timing and teamwork on a challenging course of tight turns, formidable jumps and menacing distances, and give audiences a close look at the horses and riders who represent the United States in Olympic competition.

Special events include Family Night, with free pony rides and one child admitted free with each paying adult, Friday night, October 17, an exhibition by the Falabella Miniature Horses on Wednesday night, October 15, and Appaloosa barrel racing on Friday, October 17. Throughout the week, more than fifty boutiques featuring crafts, jewelry, clothing and gifts allow visitors to get an early start on their Christmas shopping.

The show begins about 8 a.m. daily, and runs until about 6 p.m. October 9, 10 and 12 and until about 11 p.m. October 11 and 13 to 18. General admission is $10, $5 for seniors and children ages 12 and under, except October 18, when all general admission tickets are $10. Reserved seating is available Friday and Saturday night, October 17 and 18; prices range from $12 to $20. For more information or advance tickets phone (717) 975-3677.

EPHRATA (Lancaster Co.) — In his first year of showing, Chris Hess of Lititz took grand champion market lamb honors with a Polypay Dorset named Elvis.

"Everybody says that I'm a farmer at heart," the 12-year-old said of his reason for entering sheep competition.

For several years, Chris has shown dogs, but said that he likes sheep much better.

"Sheep are more work to get ready but easier to show," he said.

"Winning was very much a surprise," said Chris, son of Bill and Ann Hess. The lamb was purchased from Dudley Rohrer of Manheim.

Showing the reserve champion market lamb was another first-time winner, although she has been competing for years.

"I didn't have a clue that I'd win, but I'm very happy," said Kathy Musser, 16, of Mount Joy. She had purchased the crossbred from Kirk Diffenderfer and named the lamb "Ai," the Japanese word for love.

"Since it was a Valentine's baby, I thought the name very appropriate," Kathy said.

Kathy and her two brother who show sheep are the children of Ken and Linda Musser.

Steve Taylor of State College judged the event held at the Ephrata Park on Wednesday. Competition included 127 head in market, non-sale, and breeding sheep divisions.

Another first for the Ephrata Sheep Show was the offering of market non-sale classes.

In her first year of showing, Rachel Day clinched the grand championship with a Suffolk cross named Miles, which had also won at Denver Fair two weeks earlier.

The daughter of Cliff and Anna Day, Rachel said that Miles has developed lots of musceling from running on a ramp and sprinting behind their New Holland home.

The reserve champion non-sale lamb was showned by Travis Donough, a veteran winner in sheep circles for nine years.

"It's a pure Suffolk, I don't know why she turned black," Travis said of the stylish-looking lamb.

Although Margarita's wool coloring would count against her in breed shows, her finishing was impressive for the market. The Suffolk's muscle tone was fully developed from walking and hurdle jumping.

"She's my favorite lamb. She is smooth appearing, friendly, and tame. I think it's in the gene's," Travis said.

A senior at Manheim Central High School, Travis is active in FFA and 4-H. He is the son of Ed and LaRue Donough of Manheim.

Competition was held for 10 different breeds, which included more unique breeds such as the Lincoln, Polypay, and Jacobs. But when the champion of each breed entered the show ring for the judge's final decision on the grand champion breeding sheep overall, a Hampshire took top placing and a Dorset took the reserve champion breeding sheep honor.

Jimmy Zimmerman, 13, showed the champion breeding sheep named Stacy, which he had purchased from Stacy Suffolk's of State College.

His sister Jenny, 15, showed a Southdown to take the champion ram over all breeds. Jenny also was the reserve champion over all divisions of showmanship.

Jenny and Jimmy are the children of Jay and Joann of Reinholds. They raise about 55 head of Southdowns and Hampshires.

Tracy Zimmerman of Manheim showed the reserve champion breeding sheep. Although they share the same last name, the two top winners are not related. Tracy is better known as Tracy Bollinger, but the 20-year-old married Ryan Zimmerman recently. It's Tracy's last year of showing and the first time that she won the champion breeding sheep.

"I'm most proud because this is a homebred sheep," Tracy said of the Dorset ewe lamb.

Amy Bollinger, 18, took championship honors in showmanship over all divisions. Her win was unique in that in her class division she was named reserved because the sheep had a few shavings underneath his belly. Amy brushed them off when champions and reserves from each class entered for the final showdown. The judge remarked that Amy's skill in handling her sheep combined every trait for which he looks.

Her win was especially sweet, for it marked the first time she placed above her older sister Tracy Zimmerman. Amy and Tracy are the daughters of Eugene and Carol Bollinger.

Champions in each breeding sheep division included the following:

Keith Bollinger, son of Raymond and Sharon Bollinger of Ephrata, showed the Cheviot ewe champion.

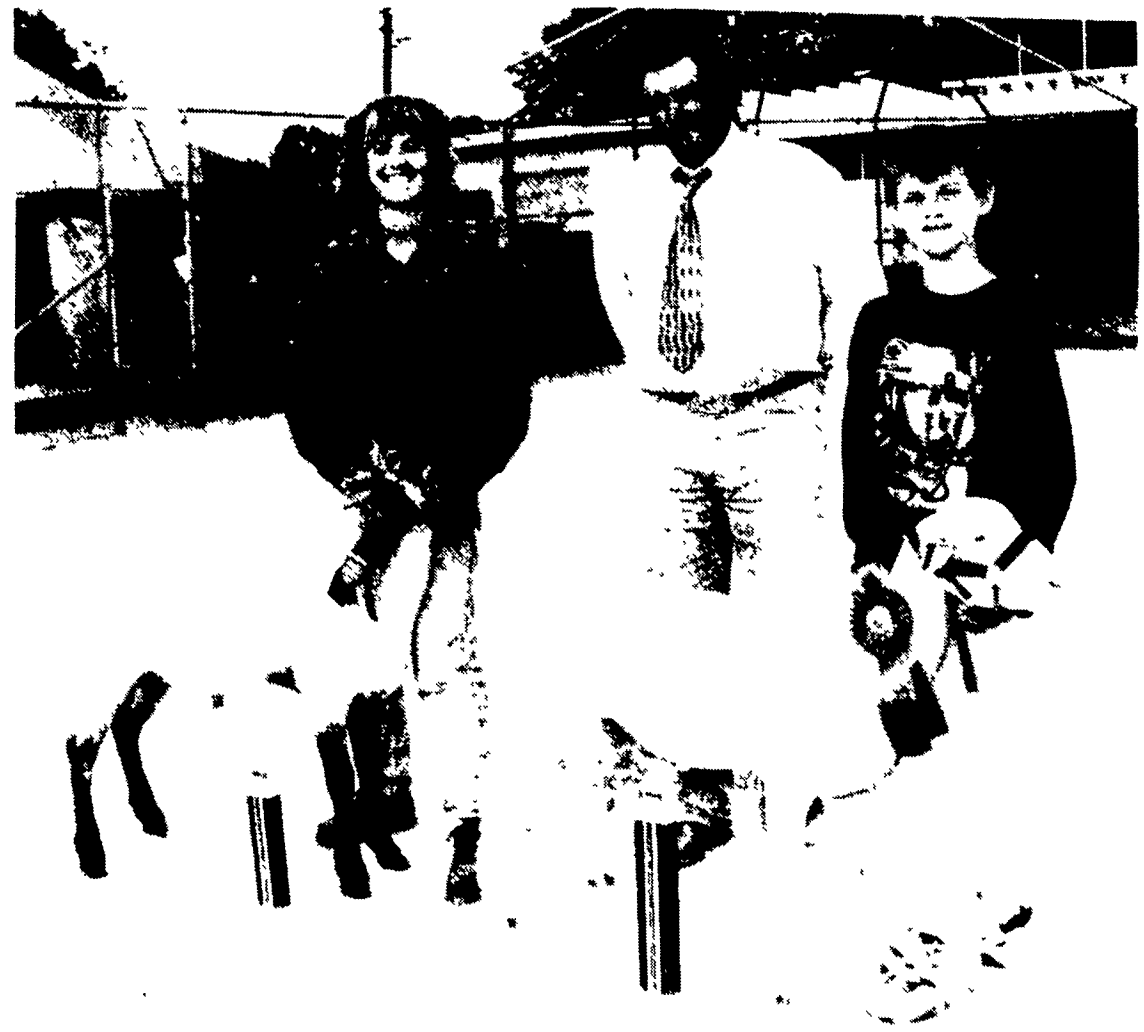
In the Columbia breed, Kelsey Bowman of Drumore showed the grand champion ewe and her brother Gabriel Bowman, the grand champion ram.

Dorset: Tracy Zimmerman showed the champion ewe, and Radell Peters, son of Raymond and Becky Peters of Middletown, the champion ram.

Shropshire champion ewe honors went to Amy Bollinger.

Southdown champion ewe and ram went to Jen Zimmerman.

Suffolk champion ewe went to Andrew Gerhart of Reinholds.



In his first year of showing, Chris Hess exhibited the grand champion market lamb trophy, and Kathy Musser's heavyweight took the reserve title. Judge Steve Taylor is from State College.

At the Ephrata Sheep Show, Judge Steve Taylor selects Jimmy Zimmerman's champion breeding sheep over all breeds and Tracy Zimmerman's homebred lamb as the reserve.

Lincoln champion ewe was shown by Gabriel Bowman of Drumore.

Polypay champion ewe and ram was shown by Dallassa Bowman of Drumore.

State Dairy Youth Make Strong Showing

VERNON ACHENBACH JR.
Lancaster Farming Staff

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — State youth gave a strong showing both in numbers and quality of animals on Monday during the state youth dairy show at the state Farm Show Complex in Harrisburg.

More than 1,100 animals owned by youth from across the state had been entered for competition among six dairy breeds. Judges all praised the quality of animals exhibited, and congratulated the youth on their efforts.

State Penn State Extension county dairy agents, 4-H and FFA leaders organize and run the showing program, which culminates in the state show as the first dairy show of the Pennsylvania All-American Dairy Show (PAADS).

The program provides qualification shows in July and August, with different committees running the specific district shows. While there is no state requirement for pre-qualifying at county shows before qualifying in a district show, there are different rules in different counties.

Changes in the program over the past two years have broadened the opportunities for youth from across the state to participate in the youth dairy program. All youth in 4-H or FFA are permitted to exhibit an animal at any district qualifying show.

State Secretary of Agriculture Samuel Hayes Jr. attended the early morning portion of the state dairy show, and congratulated youth on their efforts.

State dairy royalty presented awards, and other state dairy leaders past and present, such as former state Secretary of Agriculture Boyd Wolff, also attended.

The show was held in the Large Arena of the Farm Show Complex, and the arena was divided into three showrings.

As was started last year, the milking animals were shown first, followed by the junior-aged animals. This is done to allow the milking animals to be milked earlier in the day. Otherwise, the mature animals must wait, full of milk, until after the judging of the junior animals, which typically comprises the majority of animals exhibited, and thus time, in a youth show.

All results reported by Lancaster Farming are listed in order of the age class of the show, not according to order of actual judging class.

In each show, prior to selection of the junior- and senior-aged champions, a selection was made of the best of those animals bred, owned and exhibited by youth to recognize the effort that goes into breeding and raising a show-quality animal.

Type judges included Loren Elsass, of Wapakoneta, Ohio, for Holsteins; David Kjome, of Rochester, Minnesota, for Milking Shorthorns, Guernsey, and Brown Swiss; and Dr. David Dickson, of Madison, Wisc., for Ayrshire and Jerseys.

Showmanship judges were Lisa Sonnen of Richland for Holstein exhibitors; Tom Arrowsmith of Peach Bottom, for Milking Shorthorn, Guernsey and Brown Swiss exhibitors; and Dwight Stoltzfus, of Mograntown, for Ayrshire and Jersey breed exhibitors.

Pa. Fairs Attempt To Build Judge Lists

For several years, Pennsylvania fairs and livestock shows have been working without an official list of livestock judges. The judges list is being renewed currently, and the purpose of the Pennsylvania Livestock Judge's Registration form is to:

1) provide current information on prospective livestock judges to fair/show officials and superintendents,

2) periodically update and inform judges on recent developments and changes in youth livestock project programming, and, 3) provide the opportunity for livestock judges to attend educational programs (improving livestock evaluation skills, ethics training, fitting, showing, merit scoring, Danish system, systems approach to evaluation, etc.).

Information obtained from prospective livestock judges will be retained in a database. Keith A. Bryan (coordinator, Pennsylvania Livestock Judges List) and Ronald C. Miller (administrator, PA Agricultural Fair Program) will oversee development and distribution of the list, in consultation with officials at the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture and steering committee members of the Pennsylvania Code of Ethics Program for Animal Exhibitions.

Lancaster DHIA

Lab Continues To Run Efficiently

JERE HIGH
Lab Manager

Lancaster DHIA membership has increased and so has the number of samples being tested in the lab. We are averaging 9,000 samples more for the past six months compared to a year ago. All samples are tested for fat, protein, SNF and SCC.

The M.U.N. test is also available and has grown from an average of 3,100 samples per month a year ago to 9,000 per month. Our turn-a-round time from date the lab received the samples until the samples are tested continues within a twenty-four hour time period. Our Bentley Combi 500 machine has helped run samples efficiently.

Like other DHI's, weekly we received calibration samples from Dairy Quality Control. One week out of every month we receive calibration samples without data information (known as monthly unknowns). After calibrating the machines with the monthly unknowns, we send our results to National DHIA and must meet all requirements for being calibrated. We hav met this "monthly" unknown sample testing at 100 percent for the past three years.

Another check for the lab is yearly certification. We have received 100 percent on this certification since the lab started in 1994.

Lancaster DHIA serves Southeastern Pennsylvania. For information on our services call the office at (717) 665-5960.

Hughes, Reifsnyder Hog Trophies At Lampeter Swine Show

LOU ANN GOOD
Lancaster Farming Staff

LAMPETER (Lancaster Co.) — Andy Hughes showed the champion 4-H hog and Jason Reifsnyder the champion FFA hog at the West Lampeter Community Fair on Wednesday.

The hog show divided into two categories was composed of 29 4-H entries and 65 FFA entries.

Judge Dave Holloway, a Doroc breeder from Glen Rock, said that at a hog show a lot of things got to be looked at in order to please the packer, the industry, and the consumer.

"A hog's got to be heavy enough to please the packers, lean enough to please the industry, but not too lean or people won't like the taste," he said.

In a search for the perfect hog, Holloway said that "It's amazing the things you find out when you drive them."

Comparing different breeds is sometimes difficult, but Holloway was immensely impressed with the hogs shown.

"It's exciting to get down to quality like this," he said when selecting the champion from over all the champion classes.

It was the first time Jason Reifsnyder showed the champion hog at Lampeter.

"Lucky," he answered, when asked for the secret in showing the champion hog in lightweight, mediumweight, and heavyweight division before clinching the FFA champion hog title.

Jason, a 1996 Penn Manor graduate, showed hogs from his employer Charles Grain. Jason, son of Katherine and David Reifsnyder also attends Harrisburg Area Community College.

In the 4-H swine competition at West Lampeter Community Fair, Dave Holloway selects Andy Hughes' heavyweight for the grand champion market hog.

Out of 65 FFA entries, Jason Reifsnyder's hogs took championships in the lightweight, mediumweight, and heavyweight classes before clinching the overall title. Of the show, Judge Dave Holloway said, "It was really exciting to see quality like this."

Nine-year-old Andy Hughes said that he was "really, really happy," after clinching the 4-H champion market hog title for the first time. The hog is like a pet after walking with Andy many times in the fields.

Andy is the son of Chet and Marie Hughes of Lampeter. His sister, Allison, showed the champion 4-H sale lamb earlier that day.

Guernsey Is Supreme At State Fair

TIMONIUM, Md. — A senior three-year-old, not-quite-purebred Guernsey was named Supreme champion over all breeds in the 4-H & FFA dairy cattle show at this year's Maryland State Fair. The cow, Gr. Dix-Lee Smokey Whiskey, also was named overall winner in the best bred and owned category. She is only the second guernsey to win this honor in the fair's 20-year history of supreme champions.

Dix-Lee's proud owner is Katie Dixon, 18, of Morgnec (Kent County). Katie was the all-breed fitting and showing champion in 4-H and FFA dairy cattle competition last year at the state fair. And she is the current alternate Maryland dairy princess. She also is a freshman at the University of Maryland, majoring in animal and avian sciences.

Mark Schnebly, 17, of Dry Run (Washington County) was named fitting and showing champion among 4-H and FFA Guernsey breed exhibitors. He had shown the previous Supreme champion Guernsey at the state fair in 1992. Like Katie Dixon, Mark is a freshman at the University Of Maryland. His major is agricultural and resource economics.

Melissa Patrick, 14, of Florence (Howard County) won breed championship honors in this year's Ayrshire competition with Maple Dell Soldier G, a junior three-year-old. Her cow also was named best bred and owned among 56 Ayrshires in the show.

Another Howard County 4-H member, Amy Iager, 17, of Fulton, and her junior two-year-old, Tri-Day Jenny Jones, won breed championship honors among 200 females in the 4-H and FFA Holstein show.

Harold E. Smith III, 16, of Shawsville (Harford County) and his aged cow, Ladys-Manor Vanna Dee ET, won best bred and owned honors in the state fair 4-H and FFA Holstein show. Vanna had reigned as Supreme champion over all breeds on two previous occasions in the last five years.

Jason Fleming and Ryan Savage, two non-resident Montgomery County 4-H members, also won breed championship honors.

Jason M. Fleming, 8, of Burnt Mill (St. Mary's County) showed Burnt Mill Emory April to best bred and owned honors among 45 animals in the 4-H and FFA Brown Swiss show.

Ryan Savage, 15, of Petersville (Frederick County) and his two-year-old cow, Triple S Imperial Minuet, won the John Stiles trophy as best of her breed among 108 animals in the 4-H and FFA Jersey show. Ryan's cow also was runnerup in the all-breed Supreme champion competition.

Two Washington County 4-H members also captured top honors in the Jersey competition.

Robert Stiles, 14, of Breathedsville won the best bred and owned breed championship with Shenandoah Tophat Butter.

Ryan Downey, 16, of Downsville won the breed fitting and showing championship. Ryan also was selected as a member of the Maryland 4-H dairy cattle judging team that will compete in regional and national contest in late September and early October.

Another Washington County resident, Katie Herbst, 14, of Ringgold won fitting and showing honors in the Milking Shorthorn breed competition.

Kristin Myers, 16, of Englars Mill (Carroll County) won top fitting and showing honors both for the Holstein breed and in the all-breed competition.

Four Frederick County 4-H members rounded out breed honors in the state fair 4-H and FFA dairy show.

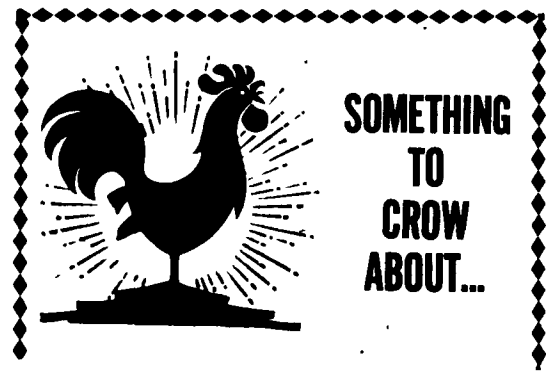
Mark Valentine, 17, of Creagerstown won the fitting and showing breed championship among Ayrshire exhibitors. Laura H. Sigler, 14, of Middletown won similar honors in the Brown Swiss competition.

Aimee Smith, 15, of Walkersville won the Brown Swiss breed championship with Towpath Pretus Fran.

Heather Hines, 11, of Clemsonville won the Milking Shorthorn breed championship with Honey Creek Princess Ida. Adam Harvey, 14, of Libertytown earned best bred and owned honors in the Milking Shorthorn show with Adams Strawberry.

There were 517 animals entered in this year's 4-H and FFA dairy show. This was 40 more than in 1996 and the largest number in recent years. Female animals by breeds were as follows: Ayrshire — 56; Brown Swiss — 56; Guernsey — 57; Holstein — 200; Jersey — 108; and Milking Shorthorn — 30.

Katie Dixson, 18, of Morgnec (Kent County) and her cow, Gr. Dix-Lee Smokey Whiskey, pose for their picture after winning Guernsey breed championship in 4-H and FFA dairy cattle competition at the Maryland State Fair. Dix-Lee also won the all-breed supreme championship. Her owner, Katie, is a freshman at the University of Maryland, majoring in animal and avian sciences. At left is Crystal Stambaugh, the Carroll County dairy princess.



First Ephrata Fair Goat Show Held

The first goat show ever held at Ephrata Fair was won by Gerald Boyd, Ephrata, with his best-in-class heavyweight. Boyd was also the champion showman.

Jeremy Horst, New Holland, had the reserve grand champion that followed the champion in class. Horst was the reserve champion showman.

Dr. Robert Herr, the judge, complimented the fair association for adding goats to the show schedule. He said many people do not realize that the goat industry is centered in Lancaster County and that 2,000 head of goats are marketed locally each week.

Others in the seven-head show included: Jenny Zimmerman, Jimmy Zimmerman, and Josh Hoover.

Hughes, Railing Share Spotlight At Lampeter Sheep Contest

LOU ANN GOOD
Lancaster Farming Staff

LAMPETER (Lancaster Co.) — West Lampeter Community Fair held sheep show competition on Wednesday morning. Unlike many of the county fairs, Lampeter divides its show into separate competitions for 4-H and FFA students.

Showing the 4-H champion sale lamb was Allison Hughes, who also was named champion fitter.

Jeremy Railing showed the FFA champion sale lamb.

Allison, 11, showed Cookies 'N Cream, which she walks daily. Allison, who always becomes deeply attached to her sheep, was already a bit teary-eyed about having to sell the sheep, which had been purchased from Don Witt of Champion.

Allison credits her dad Chet Hughes for the lamb's sleek appearance with no shearing marks. When the lamb was ready to be entered, her appearance was greatly marred when the ear tag was replaced. The ear bled profusely and her neck and face needed to be thoroughly cleaned again.

Allison, her dad, mother Marie, and a brother Andy live in Lampeter.

Jeremey Railing said that it was the first he showed a champion in his third year of showing. The FFA champion is a homebred Hampshire ewe.

The 16-year-old is a junior at Penn Manor High School and the son of Allen and Kathleen Railing of Willow St.

In a flip flop of last week's competition at Solanco Fair, Jessica Schmidt took senior showmanship honors and April Leaman, reserve showmanship. The two seem to alternate between the two top positions whenever they compete together.

Annette Lovell, herdsman for Holly Stone Farm, judged the 40 sheep and showmanship classes. She remarked that Jessica, daughter of Pete and Laurie Schmidt of Drumore, skills in showmanship showed experience and smoothness.

In breeding sheep competition, Jessica Schmidt showed both champion Dorset and champion Montadale.

Ashley Funk, 11, showed the champion Hampshire, a homebred ewe lamb named Darby. Ashley is the daughter of Scott and Celesta of Millersville. The family raises 20 head at their Millersville farm.

Colored Breeds Shine At Solanco Fair

VERNON ACHENBACH JR.
Lancaster Farming Staff

QUARRYVILLE (Lancaster Co.) — The quality of most of the animals exhibited Wednesday in the four colored breed dairy cattle shows at the Solanco Fair in Quarryville was very good, according to judge Rick Hess of Strasburg.

While the Jersey and Guernsey shows were small, the animals were of good quality he said. The Ayrshire show was the largest of the breed shows with more than 50 animals entered. The Brown Swiss show was next largest in numbers.

In the Ayrshire Show, the senior and grand champion was a 3-year-old, S&M Ay r Irs Opal, owned by Rebecca Elizabeth Nolan.

The reserve senior and reserve grand champion was a 4-year-old, Ancho-Mere T Alta, owned by Stephanie Pomraning. Both animals were also the respective youth division champions of the show.

The junior champion of the Ayrshire show was a fall calf, Wentworth-Farm Sweet Vidalia, owned by Craig Nolan, while the reserve junior champion was also shown by Rebecca Nolan, a bred and owned winter calf, Dreamnol Trident Ollena.

The premier breeder of the Ayrshire show was the Hambrick family with animals exhibited by Henry and Karen Hambrick, while the premier exhibitor was the Findley family, with animals exhibited by James Findley and Kenneth and Kathy Findley.

In the Brown Swiss breed, the senior and grand champion was a 5-year-old, Lake Lane Pebbles, owned by Joshua Hushon of Delta, while brother Jacob Hushon bred and owned the reserve senior and reserve grand champion Brown Swiss, a 4-year-old, Brothers Three Perky.

The junior champion was a winter calf, Dublin-Hills AA Tooty, owned by Lisa Jones, while Joshua Hushon showed the reserve junior champion, a fall calf, Top Acres Leverage Lillian.

In the Guernsey breed show, the senior and grand champion was a 3-year-old, Romellas Nobility Brownie, owned by Kimberly Pomraning, of Delta, while the reserve senior and reserve grand champion was a 2-year-old, Maplehurst Kibmerly, owned by Kimberly Pomraning, also of Delta.

The junior champion of the show was a spring calf, Cloverdale Bright Star, owned by Tracy Richardson of Fawn Grove, while she also showed the reserve junior champion, a spring yearling, ESJ Logic Tamra.

In the Jersey breed, Suzann Pomraning showed the senior and grand champion, a senior 2-year-

NATIONAL RETAIL EGG QUALITY SURVEY

Paul H. Patterson
Assistant Professor
Dept. of Poultry Science

In the summer of 1996 a national study of retail egg quality was conducted by state extension poultry specialists in California, Illinois, the New England states, Connecticut, Massachusetts and New York, North Carolina, Texas, and Pennsylvania.

The study included 38 cities, 115 grocery stores, and evaluated more than 770 dozen large eggs. Specialists looked at conventional white, brown, and specialty eggs for price, age from packing date, egg weight, and interior and exterior quality factors.

Specialty eggs included subgroups of nutritionally altered eggs, organic eggs, fertile eggs, eggs from welfare-managed hens, and hens fed all-vegetable diets.

[1]Haugh Units

The two largest samples were taken in Calilfornia and Pennsylvania with 84 and 67 egg brands sampled from 27 stores in both states, respectively.

Pennsylvania eggs were evaluated in Allentown, Erie, Harrisburg, Lancaster, Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, and State College. In Pennsylvania we relied heavily on assistance from Department of Agriculture egg inspectors to gather and evaluate more than 2,400 individual eggs.

National, egg age in the retail setting averaged 11.7 days for white eggs, 14.8 days for brown, and 16.7 for specialty eggs. White eggs in individual states averaged 16.1, 11.7, 11.3, 10.7, 10.6 and 10.0 days for white eggs in Texas, California, Illinois, Pennsylvania, North Carolina and the North East respectively. The Haugh unit (HU) values, which are a measure of albumen height (the higher the better, with greater than 72=AA, and greater than 60=A), and an indicator of interior quality averaged 69.1 for the white eggs, 63.5 for the brown and 66.1 for the specialty eggs. White eggs in the different regions had HU values of: North East, 75.5; Illinois, 71.6; Pennsylvania, 69.0; North Carolina, 68.1; Texas, 67.3; and California, 62.8. Cracked eggs in the cartons averaged 5.9 percent for white eggs, 6.9 percent for brown, and 4.9 percent for specialty eggs. The state with the most cracked white eggs was North Carolina at 7.4 percent, followed by Pennsylvania, 7.2 percent; the North East, 6.9 percent, California, 4.9 percent; Texas, 4.7 percent, and Illinois with the fewest cracks at 4.6 percent.

Egg price varied greatly by egg type and region of the country. White eggs averaged $1.20 per dozen, brown eggs were $1.47, and specialty eggs were the highest at $2.16 per dozen. Average white egg price in the different regions ranged from $1.71 in California, and $1.52 in the North East, to $1.07 in Pennsylvania, $1.04 in North Carolina, $0.96 in Texas, and $0.90 in Illinois.

Education Boosted At York Junior Livestock Sale

JOYCE BUPP
York Co. Correspondent

YORK (York Co.) — Several college and livestock purchase savings accounts got a handsome boost when junior exhibitor at the York Fair sold their project steers, swine and sheep in the finale of the summer show season. The sale was held September 13 in the livestock arena of the fairgrounds and generated more than $90,000 for the participating junior exhibitors.

In keeping with tradition of several years, the first item through the auction was a cake, baked by long-time 4-H supporter Lois Rankin. Also in keeping with tradition, several buyers bought the cake, donated it back for resale, and the fifth, and final, buyer offered the cake to the juniors to enjoy following the sale. A total of $695 was raised to benefit judging teams from cake buyers Delwood Kitchens, York County Pork Producers, the Jim Eisenhour family's Cedar Hill Farm, Early American Steam Engine Society and Century K Homestead, Emerson Knaper.

Sale of the grand champion steer kicked off the livestock offerings. Ten-year-old Cory Thompson, Wellsville, paraded his steer, Buddy, through the arena to a round of fast and furious bidding. Holding out as the buyer of the 1165-pound champion was the Glatfelter Agri-Business Insurance Company, York, with a bid of $4.00 per pound.

Reserve champion steer followed in the sale lineup, the 1212-pounder exhibited by Tammi Grubb, Hanover. Buyer of the reserve winner, with a bid of $2.20 per pound, was Delwood Kitchens, Hanover.

Champion market lamb was a 128-pounder that was shown by senior 4-Her Matt Trostle. Lebanon Valley Bank was the buyer of the champion, with a final bid of $8.00.

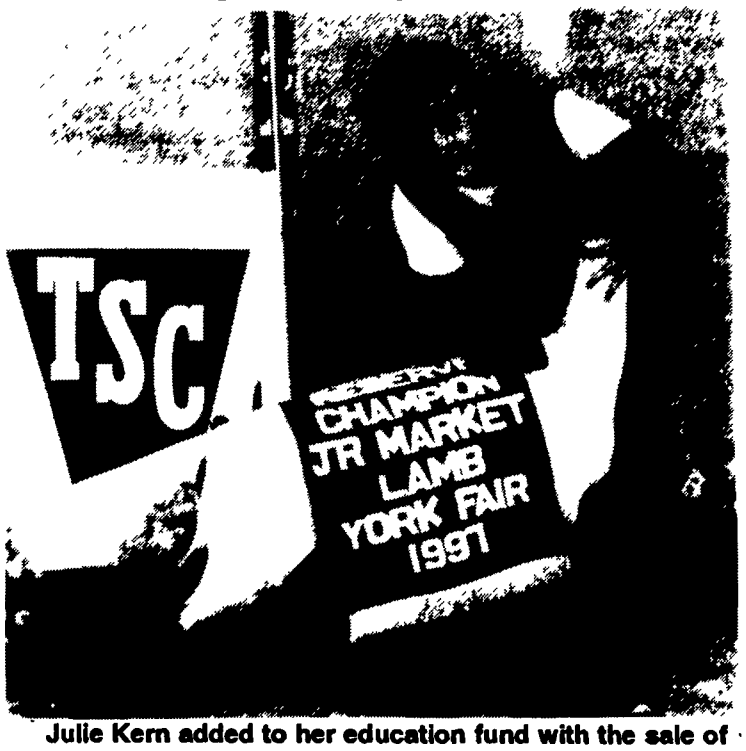
Julie Kern's 113-pound reserve champion lamb followed in the sale. The winning bid was $8.50, with Tractor Supply holding out with the final offer.

Heading the swine lineup was Mike Burrell with his 259-pound grand champion. The market pig went under the gavel at the $6 per pound mark, selling to orthodontist Dr. Michael Linebaugh.

Adam Sellers participating in his final junior exhibiting year, sold the reserve grand champion hog. Buyer of the 245-pound pink-ribbon winner at $3.70 per pound was fair concessionaire Sam Adams' Hummel's Sausage.

The sale included more than 100 swine, 69 lambs and 29 steers and generated a combined sale total of $91,212.55. Lamb sale price, excluding the champion, averaged $1.84 per pound. Steers, excluding the champion, average $1.09 per pound, and swine averaged $1.25.

When combined with the August 4-H roundup, the two shows and sales for the year generated nearly $115,000 for York County's juniors to continue and expand their livestock projects and to further their educations.



Julie Kern added to her education fund with the sale of her York Fair reserve grand champion market lamb. The 113-pound lamb brought a final bid of $8.50 per pound from Tractor Supply of York. Buyer John Danes was absent from the photo.

Adam Sellers' reserve champion market hog was purchased by Sam Adams, Hummel's Sausage, on a $3.70 per pound bid.

A $2.20 per pound bid bought the reserve champion York Fair junior steer from exhibitor Tammi Grubb. Representing the buyer, Delwood Kitchens, were Daryl Grubb, Sr., and son, Daryl, Jr.

York Fair's champion market hog, exhibited by Mike Burrell, sold on a bid of $6.00 per pound to Dr. Michael Linebaugh. Dr. Linebaugh was unavailable for the photograph.

Cory Thompson's college fund got an early boost when the 10-year-old sold his grand champion steer at the York Fair's junior livestock sale. Glatfelter Agribusiness Insurance, represented by Tony Dobrosky, paid $4.00 per pound for the 1165-pound winner.

Farm Bureau Seeks Grassroots Dairy Input

CAMP HILL (Cumberland Co.) — Pennsylvania Farm Bureau (PFB) is calling on its 25,607 members to participate in policy development sessions about to take place in their areas. For dairymen, the opportunity for input into policy development is especially important.

"There is a lot of pain and frustration among our dairy producer members as the result of the lower milk prices experienced this year, along with the widespread drought conditions," said Joel Rotz PFB dairy specialist.

"Pennsylvania dairy farmers are faced with unrelenting challenges as the industry moves toward freer markets. Now is the time for dairymen to develop policy resolutions that they feel could better position producers for the future."

Farm Bureau has already been very active in advocating policy on issues surrounding the restructuring of Federal Milk Marketing Orders mandated by the 1995 Farm bill. Farm Bureau has advocated policies designed to reduce milk price volatility and to provide a greater share of the consumer dollar to producers through changes in the Basic Formula Price for milk and by decoupling Class I (fluid Milk) and Class II (yogurt, cottage cheese and ice cream) milk prices from the manufactured product milk price.

"These issues are important to better position producers for the future," said Rotz. "However, many producers are concerned about their ability to compete in today's market. While milk prices are expected to improve somewhat over the next few months, lower support prices coupled with the current milk supply situation, provide little opportunity for significant, long-term improvement in prices through the Federal Order process.

"If producers are going to receive a better price than what is provided by regulation, it has to come from collective bargaining in the marketplace, which is hard to maintain when milk supplies are plentiful," Rotz added.

"PFB takes pride in the fact that the leadership of the organization comes from the voting members of its 54 local county farm bureaus," added Guy Donaldson, PFB president. "Local meetings are being held throughout the state to give individual members the opportunity to submit policy resolutions that they feel will best address their problems and concerns. Policy recommendations on state and national issues developed by individual members and adopted by a majority of voting members at county annual meetings this fall are forwarded to PFB's annual meeting. The policies adopted by voting delegates at our annual meeting in mid-November will guide the organization for the coming year. National policy recommendations adopted by PFB will be submitted for consideration by our national organization, the American Farm Bureau Federation.

"Pennsylvania Farm Bureau needs the policy direction of its dairy members to pursue additional ways to keep dairy producers viable in Pennsylvania. Farm Bureau has been effective in shaping the future of agriculture. We were recently successful in bringing some much needed estate tax relief to farmers. The federal balanced budget agreement signed by President Clinton in August will more than double the estate tax exemption for farmers starting next year. The capital gains tax rate will also drop and the health insurance tax deduction for the self employed will be increased up to a full 100% over the next decade," Donaldson said.

"These are all issues of concern which were targeted by Farm Bureau policy and for which the organization fought long and hard. We're also working for tax relief on the local level, supporting efforts to ease the burden of property taxes on the farm community. Farm Bureau will continue to work to solve the problems of agriculture at every level.

"But it all starts with grassroots input from individual Farm Bureau members," Donaldson concluded.

"We strongly urge all our members to take part in the policy development process now underway in their county farm bureaus. Make your voice heard in shaping a better future for agriculture."

York Fair Goat Sale Report

YORK (York Co.) — The York County 4-H Goat club held their first Annual Meat Goat show and Sale at the York Interstate Fair on Sunday September 14th. The 4-H members showed and sold 19 head of Meat goats. Grand champion meat goat went to Andrea Hempfing of Glenville, and Jessica Bange of Hanover had the reserve grand champion.

The sale was a success due to the wonderful support given by the 19 buyers who attended. Kinsley Construction company bought the grand champion for $260. The reserve champion was purchased by Troubled Acres for $95.

Dr. Robert Herr was the judge for the show and John Hess auctioned the sale.

The type show for the goats was judged by Todd Biddle from Milton Hershey School. Nicholas Yanavitch from Glenville had the champion Alpine. Champion LaMancha honors went to Amanda Hoover of East Prospect. Matt Hoover exhibited the Nubian champion. Brothers Christopher & Brandon Parsons of East Berlin showed in the Oberhasli breed. Brandon took junior champion honors and Christopher was named senior champion. In the Recorded Grade show Andrea Hempfing captured the champion ribbon and Michael Yanavitch secured the reserve champion. Best Doe in the show went to Christopher Parson. Kevin Hubbell placed first in the Novice Pleasure goat competition and Ryan Appel of Brodbecks was named champion in the Pleasure goat competition.

Two relationships that are known about eggs are: as eggs age their interior quality or albumen height tends to decrease, and two is that as eggs age they give off some moisture and decrease in weight. These relationships were nicely demonstrated in the study when the age of the eggs found in retail setting was plotted against the Haugh unit value (Figure 1) and egg weight (Figure 2). Figure 1 indicates that for every 10 days post-packing, the HU value drops approximately 1.5 units. Also, the longer eggs are stored before purchased or before they are consumed at home the greater the moisture or weight loss (Figure 2) e.g., 0.4 grams lost for every 10 days of storage.

When Pennsylvania results were subdivided into the different cities in the state, some striking differences were noticed in age, quality, and price. However, one must be cautious when making within state comparisons, as the sample numbers per city are smaller and Pennsylvania-produced eggs make up less than two-thirds of those available in the store with the other third imported from other states.

In a city-by-city comparison of all Pennsylvania eggs (Table 1), the oldest eggs were observed in Allentown, averaging 20.4 days, while the freshest eggs were found in Lancaster (10.9 days). Consistent with egg age observations, interior quality, or HU values were the highest in Lancaster at 70.1 and the lowest in Philadelphia at 63.3. Philadlephia also had the greatest percentage of eggs per dozen with HU values less than 55, compared with State College with the fewest low quality eggs per dozen.

Further, more under weight eggs, e.g., less than two ounces per egg, were found in Philadelphia and none were found in State College.

The percentage of cracked eggs was the greatest in dozens evaluated in Erie at 8 percent and the lowest in State College at 3.9 percent. Leaker eggs or those with the interior shell membrane broken were worst in Philadelphia (1.9 percent) with none found in either Pittsburgh or State College.

Lastly, price appeared to be influenced by the size of the metro area, with Allentown and Philadelphia averaging $1.71 and $1.65 per dozen compared to State College, Lancaster, and Erie at $1.27, $1.17, and $1.12 per dozen, respectively.

In summary, Pennsylvania consumers have a lot to look forward to in the grocery store when they go to buy eggs. Pennsylvania eggs are fresh, with good interior and exterior quality, and are sold at a reasonable price.

FEED GRAINS

Midwest temperatures dipped this week, but corn and soybean crops in the northern Midwest survived any frost damage. Forecasters predict warmer temperatures, and the risk of frost is not expected until early October.

Cash prices are seen steady in the short term.

Corn harvesting in the Texas Panhandle should resume in the next few days — sonner if sunny skies return. In the northern Midwest, merchants are hoping to avoid a significant frost for several more weeks. One Wisconsin trader said soybean harvesting is 1-2 weeks away and corn harvesting may start in a month.

Some farmers will be cutting soybeans in southwest Minnesota this weekend, merchants said. Many said sales will continue slow until harvesting picks up.

Many midwest elevators will stop taking wheat once corn and soybean harvesting begins, so farmers are feeling some urgency to move their wheat.

FREEDOM TO CHOOSE

Those of you currently covered by Catastrophic (CAT) crop insurance through your Farm Service Agency must now select a private crop insurance company for the 1998 crop year. With the FSA no longer selling crop insurance, you must select a local agent soon, or one will be assigned to you.

Maintain your freedom to choose! Give your Crop Growers agent a call today and find out about the coverages and benefits that are now available to you.

QUARRYVILLE (Lancaster Co.) - Once again the grand champion steer at the Solanco Fair was sold to the same buyer as in many previous years. Ferguson and Hassler bought Justin Witmer's 1,275 pound winner for $4.95 per pound.

The reserve grand champion steer weighing 1,280 pounds was sold by Jessica Schmidt to Musser's Inc. for $2.00 per pound.

In the hog sale, the grand champion weighing in at 245 pounds was sold by Allison Hughes to Hostetter Grain for $2.75 per pound.

Tiffany Dean had two champions. Her reserve grand champion hog weighing 260 pounds was sold to Hatfield for $1.75 per pound. Her grand champion market lamb went to Richard Witmer for 5.10 per pound. The champion lamb weighted 118 pounds.

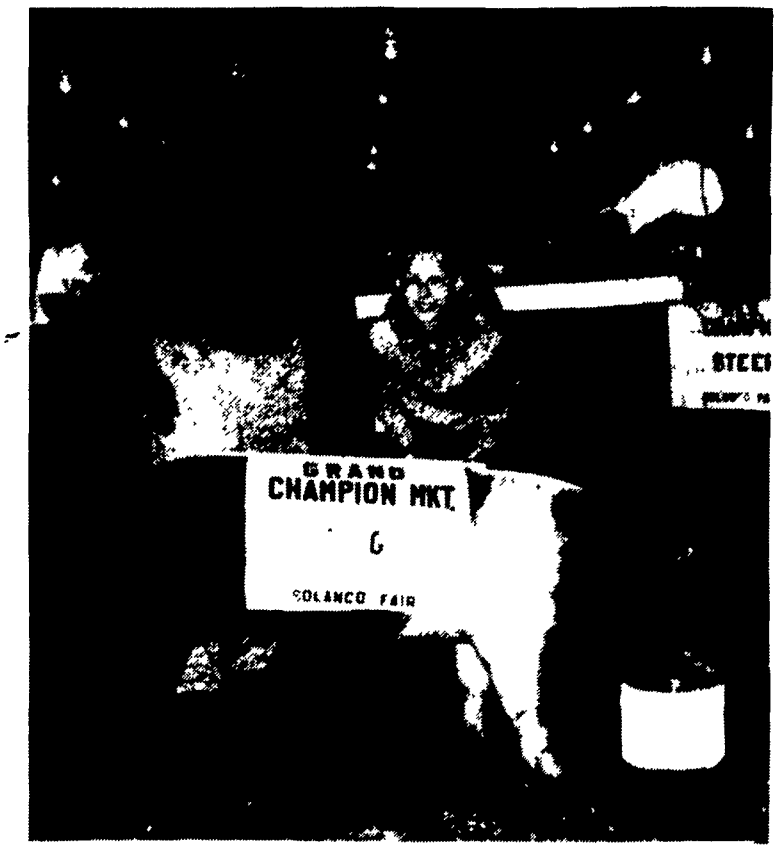
The reserve grand champion market lamb was sold by Brend Landis to Weaver Insurance for $4.00 per pound.

The sale averages without champions are as follows: Hogs: 108 head, $1.44 per pound; Lambs, 67 head, $1.62 per pound; and steers, 8 head, .95 per pound.

Randy Ranck managed the sale and said the prices were stronger than last year with more than $20,000 received above market price on just the hogs. Everyone extends many thanks to the buyers who support the youth in these sales.

Tiffany Dean sold her reserve champion hog to Hatfield for $1.75 per pound represented by Duff George and daughter Lydia.

Musser Inc., represented by Brend and Gray Musser bought Jessica Schmidt's reserve grand champion for $2.00 per pound.



The grand champion hog was sold by Allison Hughes to Bill Hostetter, Hostetter Grain, for $2.75 per pound.

Ferguson and Hassler again bought the grand champion steer. This year Justin Wimer's 1,275 pound champion sold for $4.95 per pound. Representing the buyer are Tim Hassler, Jim Hassler and Jimmy Jr. who did the bidding for the family.

Weaver's Insurance represented by Roger Slusher bought Brent Landis's reserve grand champion market lamb for $4.00 per pound.

NOT RESPONSIBLE FOR ACCIDENTS

Sale Top At $10,200

The first cow in the ring set the tone of the Eastern National Holstein sale Wednesday night as the consignment from Tom Wilson, Saegertown (in the photo) sold to Solid Gold Holsteins for $10,200. The two-year-old Bellwood daughter had PTA built in of plus 2,147m 66f 67p from a VG dam with an excellent udder and two records over 30,000 pounds of milk and 1,000 pounds of protein. The next four dams are all outstanding with GMD, DOM, and EX ratings all over the place and milk records to 41,990 pounds. The sale, catalogued by sire, had maybe the deepest pedigrees in a total sale ever assembled at the Eastern National. Several other consignments sold for over $4,000. Photo by Everett Newswanger, managing editor.

Nichole Meabon Reigns As State Dairy Princess

LOU ANN GOOD

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — The Pennsylvania Dairy Princess Coronation possesses the pomp and grandeur of the Miss America Pageant.

No swimming suits, of course, but evening gowns, talent competition, personality, and fluency are all part of the requirements during the rigorous two days of judging.

Each contestant's platform is the promotion of the dairy industry. Through speeches, skits, and personal interviews, contestants demonstrate their abilities to be effective spokespersons.

From the 29 county dairy princesses at the state pageant held last Saturday at the Sheraton East in Harrisburg, three were selected to represent the dairy industry at the state level.

Crowned Pennsylvania Dairy Princess is Nichole Meabon from Erie County. Assisting her in promotional duties are First Alternate Heather Riley, from Crawford County, and Second Alternate Eileen Murphy, from Bradford County.

These three were selected from seven finalists. When the finalists were introduced to the audience, the word that they said best describes them was revealed. Nichole said that "genuine," best described her. Heather, said that "personality" was most descriptive of her. Eileen selected "bubbly" as most reflective of her.

In Wattsburg, Nichole, her parents Randy and Paula Meabon, and a brother Bradley farm 500 acres with 200-head mixed herd composed of Holsteins, Jerseys, and Ayrshires. Nichole, 17, is a senior at Seneca High School, where she is concentrating on graduating with honors. She wants to pursue a career in broadcast communications to help give a positive impression of agriculture.

Heather is the 17-year-old daughter of Donna Riley and has a brother, Ron, and sister Stephanie. She is a senior at Cambridge Springs High School and owns seven of 210 Holsteins on the Closky Farm. She plans to become either a veterinarian or a pediatrician.

Eileen is the 18-year-old daughter of Malcolm and Sylvia Murphy, who farm 435 acres and have 124 Holsteins in Ulster. She plans to study elementary education with learning disabilities.

In addition to Nichole, Heather, and Eileen, other finalists included Erica Davis of Berks County, who selected "outgoing," as her descriptive choice; Julie McConnell of Beaver-Lawrence used the word "faithful;" Judy Geissinger, Juniata, considers herself an

Miss Congeniality is Bedford County Dairy Princess Eileen Murphy who also reigns as the Pennsylvania Second Alternate dairy princess.

Newly-crowned Pennsylvania Dairy Princess Nichole Meabon is from Erie County.

In her last official appearance as the state dairy princess, Angela Werley offers milk to Sec. of Agriculture Samuel Hayes.

"encourager;" and Tammy Trimble, Indiana, used the word "passion" as descriptive of her.

The finalists were required to answer an impromptu question before hundreds of persons who attended the banquet. Judges Bonnie Remsburg, Maryland; Nancy Cadwallader, New Jersey; Anthony Schlesier, Ohio; and Kirk Downey, Maryland, selected the question posed by Master of Ceremonies Grover Gouker: "With the exception of relatives, what living person do you admire most and how do they inspire you?"

The question is asked to determine how contestants perform under pressure, which is something dairy princesses face when making public appearances before non-farming audiences.

Each contestant remained in a soundproof room until it was their turn to come on stage and hear the question.

Nichole portrayed poise and enthusiasm as she spoke of her fourth-grade teacher. "I didn't admire her in the beginning. In fact, at first I came home from school in tears. . .but she is dear to my heart and made me the person I am today," Nichole said.

First Alternate Heather Riley said that the person she most admires is her mother's best friend, Rose. Because Heather is from a divorced family, she has been helped and encouraged by Rose, a divorcee, who is like a second mom to her.

Second Alternate Eileen Murphy answered confidently by saying that it is difficult to choose only one person because she admires many people, but she named her high school principal as the person she most admires. She credits Mr. Hendricks with being fair and at the same time setting rules and sticking to them.

Contestants recognized for outstanding presentations and speeches needed to perform before the banquet audience. These speeches and presentations are similar to talent competitions in that each contestant is required to have a prepared speech and skit before coming to the pageant.

As is often the case, the selected dairy princess and alternates usually have been recipients of some of these awards. Presentation awards went to Nichole and Heather with honorable mention earned by Eileen Murphy, Erica Davis, Julia

(Turn to Page B4)

Five times in 41 years, the state dairy princess has come from Erie County. Here Nichole Meabon is joined by Rhonda Kiekiak, left, who reigned in 1995, and Lynette Loper Pietkiewicz, who reigned in 1984.

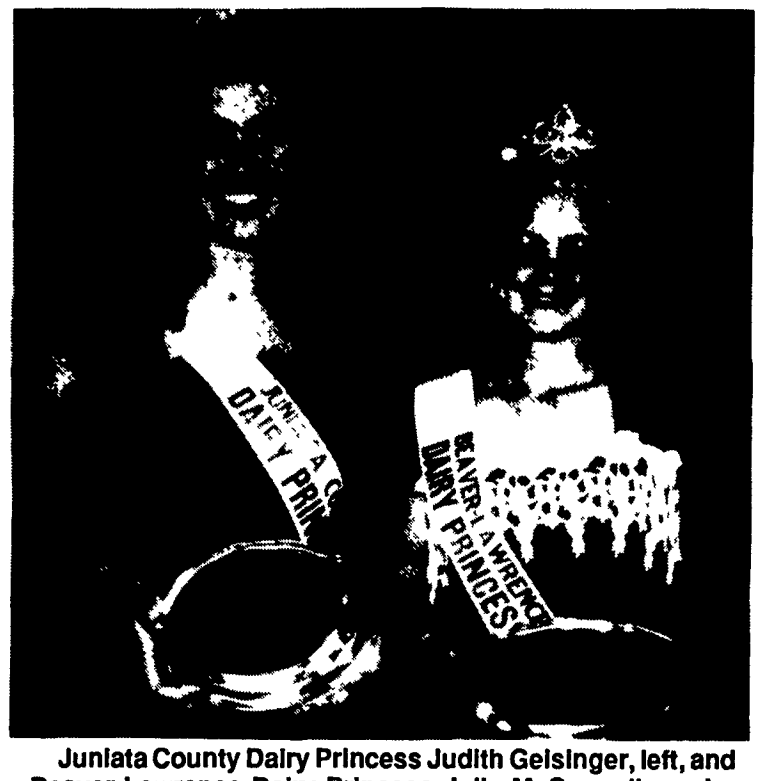
Fishing for nutrition is Nichole Meabon, a presentation award winning who later was crowned the state dairy princess.



Juniata County Dairy Princess Judith Geisinger, left, and Beaver-Lawrence Dairy Princess Julia McConnell receive awards for producing the most impressive scrapbooks chronicling their promotional appearances.

PDPPS secretary Wanda Yoder presents the Tina M. Shultz Memorial Award to Emily Metz, last year's Huntingdon County dairy princess, who is judged to have done the most outstanding job representing the dairy industry in her county.

McConnell, and Ellen Norman of Tioga County.

Heather protrayed a gum-chewing, overly-talkative waitress who had the audience roaring with her slapstick humor in convincing a customer to change his order to comply with a more nutritious diet using dairy products.

Dressed in jeans and carrying an intertube, and a bucket, Nichole plopped down to fish at the stage-constructed Meabon Farm Dairy Pond. Her fishing tactics snatched letters such as "G" for "got milk" and "V" for vitamins as she told about the necessity of incorporating dairy products in daily diets.

Franklin County Dairy Princess Mary Varner and Indiana County Dairy Princess Tammy Trimble won the top awards for speech competition.

With poise, Mary examined negative attitudes toward dairy products and used a convincing fact-filled speech to negate the opposition. Tammy's award-winning speech dealt with selecting dairy products.

Honorable mention in the speech category were earned by Jodi Musser, SUN area, and Judy Geissinger of Juniata County.

Before being named second alternate, Eileen Murphy was presented the award for Miss Congeniality. This award is not decided by judges but by the contestants who each cast a vote to decide who is the most friendly.

County dairy princesses must keep extensive records of their appearances on behalf of the dairy industry. Scrapbooks of these events were judged by Joann Peifer of Lititz and Bruce Buttons of New York. They selected Beaver-Lawrence Dairy Princess Julie McConnell and Judy Geissinger. Honorable mention went to Heather Riley and Somerset Area Dairy Princess Jessica Lynch.

Not all the awards presented are for this year's dairy princesses. The Tina M. Shultz Memorial Award, given in memory of Huntingdon County's 1985-86 dairy princess who served while fighting a losing battle with cancer, goes to the previous year's county dairy princess who is judged to have done the most outstanding job of representing the dairy industry within her county. It is based on the number and types of appearances and the circumstances under which she has served.

Emily Metz of Huntingdon County earned the Shultz award in response to helping out in 365 promotions.

"I'm very honored to receive this award because, as a young girl, I knew Tina Shultz, for whom this award was named," Emily said.

Runner-up for the Shultz award was LaTrisha Wasson of Centre County who participated in 322 promotions.

Central district PDPPS coordinator Wanda Yoder presented the Shultz Award and received a standing ovation for her illustration comparing the accomplishments of dairy princesses to a flock of wild geese flying in formation. She said that as each bird flaps its wings, it creates a wind flow that allows birds to fly at a 70 percent greater flying range than flying on their own. If one goose falls out of formation, the resistance and drag is immediately felt. Geese honk from behind to encourage the others to keep up the speed.

Wanda challenged individuals to examine what messages they were portraying when "honking" from behind. When a geese is wounded and falls out of formation, two other geese will also fall out of formation to stay with the wounded goose until he can fly again.

PDPPS director Jan Harding stressed that every dairy princess was a winner because she represents her county and participated in the pageant. Jan said that Angela Werley, last year's state dairy princess, was her 13th "adopted" daughter.

"Thirteen is often considered unlucky, but in this case, 13 is very, very lucky, for Angela did a wonderful job as a dairy princess and was a wonderful 'adopted' daughter," Jan said.

In her farewell speech, Angela Werley said that words cannot express the "amazing" year of her reign. She is convinced that promotion is the key part to the success of the dairy industry and plans to pursue a career in dairy industry promotion.

Since the night of the pageant marked Angela's 20th birthday, the audience sang "Happy Birthday."

Nichole Meabon is flanked by her parents Randy and Paula Meabon. A brother Bradley missed the pageant because someone needed to take care of the family's 200-head herd on their 500-acre farm in Wattsburg.

One Potato, Two Potato Red Potato, Blue Potato

When I was a kid, it wasn't dinner unless we had potatoes. Many of us were raised on a diet that included a daily serving of boiled or mashed potatoes. My dad raised potatoes in the garden, which were stored in our cellar over the winter. He preferred the red varieties. We used them for all potato dishes from baked to boiled to mashed. Today the lowly potato is coming into its own. Chefs around the world are creating magnificent dishes with this lowly tuber.

The native home of the potato is in the Andes Mountains of Peru and Bolivia where they are grown in many colors, textures and flavors. Spanish explorers introduced this tuber to Europe in the mid 1500's. It was the first cultivated for its delicate blossoms. Sir Walter Raleigh, an advocate of the potato, gave several plants to Queen Elizabeth I; her chef served the tops instead of the tubers — and the tops are a bit poisonous. No wonder it took a while for potatoes to catch on.

Potatoes have also helped shape our history. Between 1650 and 1840 the potato became a vital part of the basic food supply in Ireland. When a blight disease wiped out the crop in the late 1840's, many Irish immigrated to America.

Today the potato is still a staple in our diets. More than 100 varieties are grown in this country. In the store there are often several varieties to choose from. To know which variety to choose, consider the desired use. The starch content determines how potatoes work in recipes. The high starch varieties, sometimes called mealy potatoes, make great fluffy mashed potatoes, baked potatoes, and fries.

Russet potatoes are the most popular mealy type and are great for baking and fries, and mashed. Their high starch gives them a fluffy texture when mashed which absorbs all the butter and milk that is added.

The waxy varieties have a high water content. They hold their shape when cooked, thus are good for roasting, steaming, and boiling. They do not absorb liquid well and do not get fluffy when mashed. Round reds and round whites are some examples of waxy potatoes. These varieties have thin, smooth skins. "New" potatoes are a waxy variety.

The third basic type is the all-purpose potato. This is an in-betweener. The starch and water content falls somewhere between the waxy and mealy types. It can be used for most purposes. Long, thin skinned whites are one variety, Yukon Golds, which have a yellow flesh, a buttery flavor and have gained popularity lately, are also an all-purpose potato.

In recent years, we have been seeing more specialties on the market, such as Russian Banana, blue skinned and blue-flesh varieties, red-fleshed varieties, and even candy-striped potatoes. These are only a few of the many varieties. Watch for some in the stores.

Select firm, blemish-free potatoes that do not yield to gentle pressure. Avoid ones that are wrinkled, cracked, or have sprouting eyes, these have probably been in storage too long. Something else to avoid is green potatoes. They have been exposed to sunlight and contain mild toxins.

Last, we need to consider personal preference in potato selection. Many people like the texture they remember as a child. Others demand the unusual.

15-ounce can black beans, drained, rinsed
1 cup mild, thick and chunky salsa
Cilantro pesto*

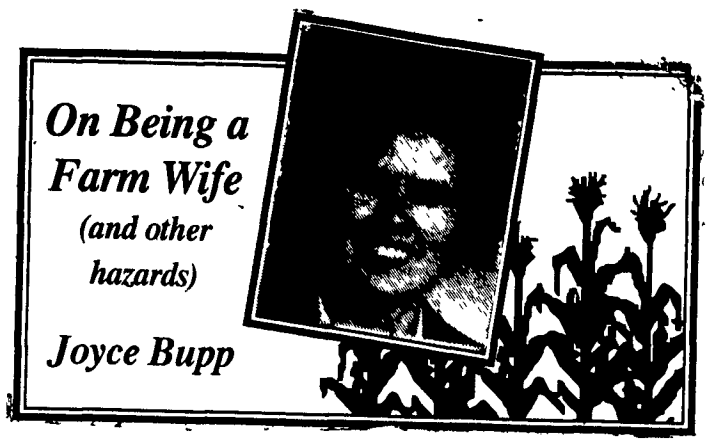
Shredded Monterey Jack cheese blend

Reduce heat and cook, uncovered, over low heat 10 minutes or until chicken is fork tender. Spoon into bowls; top with sour cream and cheese. Garnish with cilantro pesto. Makes 4 servings.

*Cilantro Pesto: In small bowl, mix together ½ cup minced cilantro, 1 tablespoon lime juice and 1 tablespoon prepared pesto; serve with chowder.



Probably won't be doing this much longer, I figure.

Every few minutes, or so, I wonder why I AM doing this?

Because every few minutes, the dump truck comes roaring by the yard on the field road. That road is covered with a layer of dusty powder from repeated passages of the heavy equipment, hauling tons of fresh corn silage to dump onto the pile of winter feed being packed into the trench silo. And, with each passage of the truck, back and forth to the fields, the dust stirred floats toward the yard — and the clean wash I am hanging out to dry in the light breeze.

Considering the dust, using the clothes dryer would probably make more sense.

But on this warm, sunny morning, few things are more appealing than hanging out clean, damp laundry on the wash line. And, the laundered sheets and towels on the line will have that wonderful hung-outside-to-dry fragrance that no cleaning or softening agent can ever duplicate.

Overhead, the sky is that beautiful, deep, blue of the fall season, barely streaked with a few elongated, whispy, cirrus clouds. The color of the heavens reflects in the pond, where a raspy squawk tells-tales the green heron dropping in for a visit. Favorite perch of this adept fisherman is among the branches of a small willow that hangs out over the water. We see this foot-tall fishmonger frequently, since it comes almost daily to haunt the goldfish lounging near the pond's surface.

A parade of heifers meanders up the path from the lower meadow, headed for their morning rations at the feedtrough below the dairy barn. This crowd of black and white "teenagers" seem to be a bit less in a hurry to dash to the feeder than in earlier weeks, when the grass in the meadow had dried to a tasteless, nutritionless, dormant, dry cover. Two inches of rain earlier in the month and cool evenings have combined to coax the grass back to a spring-like green color. So, the heifers find more snacking on the pasture between their regular feedings now than they have for several months.

Midnight, the new cat, comes creeping close for a tummy rub. Our resident felines — especially prima donna housecat Monk — have still not taken too kindly to the presence of this beautiful, black-furred fellow, with just a dab of white under his chin. But they do tolerate him, if he keeps his distance and remembers his place. Which is the back yard — and the basement porch when no other cat is around. Midnight's ribs are no longer prominent, his fur has grown sleek and the probably-rodent-inflicted wound on his right cheek has completely healed. He's a handsome cat and we'll encourage him to adopt us permanently.

Enroute to the house, I spy a streak of white and gray, another stray cat that has moved into the woodshed. This one is not tame — at least not yet — and vanishes the instant it sees one us. But it doesn't hesitate to chow down the cat food and milk offerings set out. Its presence, and that of still a third, gray-tiger, stranger hanging around the round-bale stack below the buildings, smacks of something besides coincidence. Three strange cats — of the same size, turning up at about the same time — suggests that they had help to get here.

A sound from up in the trees gets my attention, a combined plaintive cry of a kitten with the more racous call of a blackbird. The repeating call, which goes on for some time, is puzzling. Then I spot it. A squirrel, hanging head-first downhill on the side of one of the maple trees, is generating the unusual noise. Either distress or a warning must have been its purpose, because it stops as abruptly as it started. Squirrel version of a catcall, perhaps?

The breeze picks up, and before long, most of the laundry has dried. I hurry out to take it down, before it suffers from too long an exposure to the local birds currently dining on purple poke berries. Dust from the passing dump trucks stirs into the yard as I fold the last sheet.

Oh well. When you make your living from the earth, what difference does a little more dust make, anyway?

Hans Herr Snitz Fest Celebrates Harvest

WILLOW STREET (Lancaster Co.) — A celebration of harvest and the importance of the apple in early Lancaster County, Snitz Fest will be held on Saturday, October 4, from 10 a.m.-3 p.m. at the Hans Herr House.

In addition to the apple tasting table, visitors can enjoy the apple in many forms. Apple butter making, cider pressing, and apple "schnitzing" will all be demonstrated throughout the day. The hearth in the 1719 house and the outdoor beehive bakeoven will turn out delicious Pennsylvania German recipes. An applewood fire in the smokehouse will smoke sausages to perfection.

Snitz Fest also features many rural harvest activities and crafts. Enjoy a leisurely ox-drawn wagon ride through the antique apple orchard, guided by local fruit growers. Children can play a wide variety of 18th century games. A horse-powered cornsheller and sorghum press will be in operation.

The proverb "cleanliness is next to godliness" will be demonstrated at the soapmaking table, while broommaking, butter churning and fabric dying can also be observed. Both the 1719 house and the 1835 house will be open for tours, the blacksmith shop will be in use, and the exhibit barn, featuring our new milling exhibit, will be open to visitors.

Admission to Snitz Fest is $4.50 for adults and $1 for children ages 7-12. The Hans Herr House is located 5 miles south of the city of Lancaster, PA near the village of Willow Street, just south of Routes US 222 and PA 741 and one mile east of PA 272. For more information, call (717) 464-4438.

Cook's Question

There seems to be a misconception that goat's milk can only be used in certain recipes calling for goat's milk. Goat milk can be used exactly like cow's milk. It should taste like cow's milk. There is only one big difference between the two—Goat milk is much healthier.

ANSWER — A subscriber wanted a quick and easy recipe for cinnamon raisin bread such as made by Pepperidge Farm Style or Stroehmann's Dutch County—a recipe where the raisins don't sink to the bottom but are distributed thoughout the entire bread. Thanks to Sharon Brown of Dry Run, for the following recipe.

Cinnamon Raisin Bread
2 loaves

2 packages dry yeast
½ cup warm water
1¾ cup warm water
2 tablespoons shortening
3 tablespoons sugar
6-7 cups flour
1 cup raisins
¼ cup sugar
2 tablespoons water
2 teaspoon cinnamon

Dissolve yeast in a half cup water. Put shortening in 1¾ cup water (need not melt). In large bowl, mix together 3 tablespoons sugar with 3½ cups flour. Add liquids and mix until smooth. Mix in raisins and enough remaining flour until dough is easy to handle. Knead 10 minutes. Place in greased bowl, flip dough to grease top. Cover, let rise until doubled. Punch down, divide in half. Roll each half to 9x18-inches. Mix sugar and cinnamon. Spread each dough with 1 tablespoon water and ½ of the sugar-cinnamon mixture. Roll up 9-inch side. Seal. Place seam down in greased 9x5x3-inch bread pan. Brush top with melted butter. Let rise until doubled.

Place in 425 degree oven until deep brown (25-30 minutes). May need to cover with tinfoil for the last few minutes to prevent over browning.

Makes a moist white bread for people who can't have milk, eggs or salt. (Bake plain bread at 400 degrees).

ANSWER — Here are some more recipes for cake in the jar, which Sue Pardo of Jarrettsville, Md., writes is wonderful item to use as fund raisers. Do not attempt to use quart jars as it does not bake evenly. Only fill jar half full.

Most fruit bread recipes will work to bake in a jar.

Pumpkin Cake In A Jar

Use 5 wide-mouth pint jars with new lids and rings. Grease the jars well.

⅔ cup shortening
2⅔ cups sugar
4 eggs
2 cups pumpkin
⅔ cup water
3⅓ cups flour
½ teaspoon baking powder
1½ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon ground cloves
½ teaspoon allspice
1 teaspoon baking soda
1 teaspoon cinnamon
1 cup chopped nuts (walnuts are good)

Preheat oven to 350 degrees. Cream together shortening and sugar. Beat in eggs, pumpkins, and water. Set aside. Sift together flour, baking powder, salt, ground cloves, allspice, cinnamon, and baking soda. Add to pumpkin mixture. Mix well and stir in nuts.

Pour batter into jars until half full. Place jars on cookie or baking sheet. Bake for 45 minutes. Cake will rise and pull away from side of jar. When done, remove one jar at a time from oven. Wipe clean the sealing edge of jar, place lid on jar and close tightly with the ring. Turn jar upside down. Cake will loosen at this time. Leave jars upside down until all are sealed.

To serve, open jar and remove cake. Warm cake in microwave or conventional oven, slice and serve with whipped cream.

Thanks to Rita Ocker, Shippensburg, for sending also answering this request.

Canned Applesauce Cake

⅔ cup shortening
4 eggs
1½ cups raisins (optional)
3⅓ cups flour
1 teaspoon ground cloves
1 teaspoon salt
3 cups sugar
2 cups applesauce
⅔ cup nuts (optional)
2 teaspoons baking soda
½ teaspoon baking powder
1 teaspoon cinnamon

Cream shortening with sugar. Beat in eggs and applesauce. Sift together flour, baking powder, baking soda, salt, and spices. Blend into applesauce mixture. Add chopped nuts and raisins. Bake the same as the pumpkin bread.

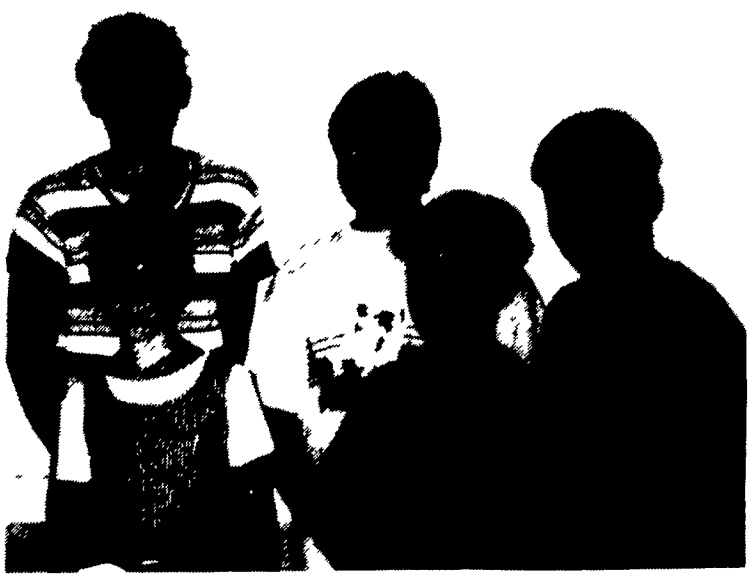
A Deal Elementary student sizes his feet up to "That Milk Thing's" footprints during the School Breakfast Quest awards celebration.



At the Snyder County Farm Bureau's annual chicken barbecue in July, safety poster contest winners were selected. Winners, from left, front, are Alexa Benner, daughter of James and Candace Benner; and Scott Hoover, son of Levon and Beth Hoover. Back, Lisa Helmbach, daughter of Robert and Vicky Helmbach, Valerie Hoover, daughter of Levon and Beth Hoover, Nicholas Hurst, son of Scott and Terri Hurst.

Eat Smart To Be Smart

TOWNSON, Md. — "Eat Smart To Be Smart" is the message students are being taught to encourage breakfast eating.

An 11 percent increase in Maryland school breakfast participation can be credited, in part, to the Maryland School Breakfast Quest. The Middle Atlantic Milk Marketing Association (MAMMA), Dairy Council of Greater Metropolitan Washington (DCGMW), and Southeast United Dairy Industry Association (SUDIA) teamed up with the Maryland Department of Education and the Maryland Food Committee to sponsor the contest, held during the '96-'97 school year. One hundred thirteen schools in 14 school districts, participated, facilitating four breakfast promotions during the 4-month contest period.

Representatives from MAMMA, DCGMW, and SUDIA recently joined Dr. Nancy Grasmick, MD State Superintendent of Schools, in congratulating Deal Elementary School in Somerset County for their first-place finish. Deal Island's participation increased by 25 percent during the four-month Breakfast Quest campaign, which included breakfast with "famous faces" every two weeks, a canned food drive, and adoption of a jaguar at the Salisbury Zoo.

Deal Island was one of 14 district-wide winners that vied for the state prize, which included a $3,000 grant, nutrition education materials, and free breakfast for a week for each student in the school. Participating schools were challenged to find educational and creative ways to promote school breakfast. To be considered for the grand prize, schools were also required to demonstrate increased participation in the School Breakfast Program.

Along with nutrition education materials, Cal Ripken growth posters, and a plaque from the Department of Education, all county-wide winners received a free "Eat Smart To Be Smart" assembly featuring MAMMA's loveable, 7-foot tall, blue, furry "That Milk Thing."

Many of the participating schools held events, like Deal Island's animal adoption, which tied into the campaign's theme, Rainforest Adventure. This theme was extended from National Dairy Council's nutrition education curriculum, Rainforest Adventures, provided to all the schools that enrolled in the contest.

This is the fifth year the School Breakfast Coalition (made up of DCGMW, MD Department of Education, MD Food Committee, MAMMA, and SUDIA) sponsored a statewide breakfast promotion. The annual event is designed to stress the importance of good nutrition to a child's education and to highlight School Breakfast as a convenient and economical way for parents to ensure their children are eating a healthy breakfast.

Dairy Council of Greater Metropolitan Washington, Inc., the Middle Atlantic Milk Marketing Association, and the Southeast United Dairy Industry Association are all funded by dairy farmers in the Mid-Atlantic area and southeast United States. Their objectives target milk consumption of American consumers.

Deal Island Elementary students enjoy their free breakfast during the MD School Breakfast Quest awards celebration.

What's nectar?
The sugary sweet liquid is a flower's way of bribing bees
Flowers can't reproduce unless the pollen from one flower say a dandelion reaches another dandelion Wind can carry some of the pollen, but that's not enough Bees — and other insects and birds depending on the flower — do the rest of the pollen distribution
Bees want the nectar because it's their main source of food That's why they spend their days buzzing around looking for more food to turn into honey back at the hive
The busy bees are first attracted to a flower's color They instinctively know that nectar will be near certain ultraviolet colors in a flower (Ultraviolet colors are colors you can't see but bees can)
The bees collect as much nectar as they can into their crop — that's a storage area inside their bodies in front of the tummy As they work pollen sticks to their legs The pollen then gets a free ride from male flowers to female flowers as the bee forages for more nectar The female flowers use the pollen to make flower seeds for next year
Nature helps the flowers out in this process too Insects and birds usually only collect nectar from one kind of flower — which is great for flowers, because dandelions can't use pollen from daisies!

Burcucumber Busts Out In Pa. Corn Fields

ANDY ANDREWS
Lancaster Farming Staff

LANDISVILLE (Lancaster Co) — Burcucumber — also known as "wild pickle" — has been "exploding" in many Pennsylvania corn fields, said a Penn State weed specialist

According to Dr Bill Curran, Penn State associate professor of weed science, the cumbersome weed can cause heavy damage in corn and soybean fields with potential significant loss of yields

To make matters worse, the weed is extremely difficult and can be expensive to control However, the alternatives of using no control or not changing control strategies could prove catastrophic for corn growers

Curran said the vine type weed, which looks just like a cucumber plant with broad, five sided leaves, can branch out through fields of corn and soybeans for great distances The plants can choke off corn stalks and envelope soybean stands quickly if left untreated

Worse, the plant produces clusters of seed with 16-20 seeds per cluster "There overwinter In addition, the clusters can attach themselves readily to clothing or fur cover and can be spread easily by rodents or man

"This is a bottom ground, wet and heavy soil type of vine weed," said Curran But in a growing season that was as continuously wet as this past one, any type of field could fall victim Growers realized, according to the weed specialist, that "no herbicides provided residual control good enough to control the weed all season long "

The problem is made worse by the fact that the vines and seeds pose real hazards at harvest

"Burcucumber clogs up combines, wraps up in the reels, and clogs up silage choppers," said Curran

The seed, when it germinates, is very competitive, can reduce yield on crops significantly, and spreads quickly

Some fields can get so infested with the weed that they simply cannot be chopped for silage or combined

For corn fields that are past treatment and to be used for silage, there is hope

Moisture, Soil Fertility Hand Corn Growers A Top Crop

ANDY ANDREWS
Lancaster Farming Staff

EASTON (Northampton Co) — It's not hard to get a top crop

Just ask Gary Fehnel, who managed to obtain the highest yield on a three-year average for corn than any grower he competed against in the ear corn class, machine harvest, in the state

"You need a good growing year and you feed the ground," he said

Fehnel indicated that moisture was a big contributor to obtaining excellent corn yields Obtaining that moisture at critical growing times allowed the best for a three year average yield for the Northampton County grower

Along with father Clarence and brother Stephen, Gary accepted his award at the 1997 Pennsylvania Crops Conference recently at the Holiday Inn in Grantville

Gary obtained the award on an average yield of 165 5 bushels per acre In 1994, Gary planted Pioneer 3293 for a yield of 147 1 bushels per acre, in 1995, he planted Pioneer 3394 for a yield of 147 6 bushels per acre, and repeated the same variety in the 1996 growing year for a yield of 201 8 bushels per acre

Stephen also did well, picking up third in the class for an average yield of 146 9 bushels per acre In 1994, he planted Funk's 4473 for a yield of 140 2 bushels per acre, in 1995, he planted Pioneer 3394 for a yield of 140 6 bushels per acre and in 1996, the same variety was used for a yield of 159 8 bushels per acre

Clarence Fehnel also did well in the Five-Acre Contest, picking up first place in the ear corn class, machine harvest, for a yield of 168 5 bushels per acre using Pioneer 3394 Plant population was 29,262 per acre

Clarence said the family grows about 400 acres altogether of various crops including corn, a lot of which is stored in 13 corn cribs on the farm There are three separate farm operations in the Palmer Township business According to Clarence there are 250 acres in corn 55 acres in wheat 20 acres in oats and 30 acres in alfalfa

Gary said the growers can achieve good yields because of the heavy limestone soil The soils while holding some clay like many Lancaster County soils, are fertilized with dairy manure

The Fehnels make use of extensive soil testing every three years

The ground is prepared in the spring using a moldboard plow and the seedbed is prepared

Aryshire Wins Colored Breed Junior Supreme

JOYCE BUPP
York Co. Correspondent

YORK (York Co.) — Jason Stambaugh has won lots of breed champion titles as a junior Ayrshire exhibitor, but last week he copped a brand new award. The 16-year-old East Berlin 4-H'er's senior 3-year-old was selected supreme champion of the colored breed show, the first such honor ever bestowed at the York Fair's junior dairy show.

Don-Sher Astro Anne was selected from a lineup of five breed champions by show judge Mary Creek, a Maryland dairyman and purebred cattle breeder. She praised the young cow's beautiful udder and adept handling of her legs and feet while on the move. Anne is milking in her 2nd lactation and projected to 18,000 pounds. This is the second show season that Stambaugh has had her in his show lineup; earlier in the season she was both the county roundup and district show breed champion.

A close second mention went to the Guernsey champion, Rutter Bros Perfectos Lydia, exhibited by Terri Johnson, York. Judge Creek praised the senior 2-year-old growth and stretch and noted that the younger cow displayed a nearly perfect udder.

Other breed champions in contention were Wind Mill Hammer Colleen, the Brown Swiss senior 3-year-old exhibited by Nathan Hostetter, Dover, Jersey senior 2-year-old champion Franken Theodore Ulli, exhibited by Suzann Pomraning, Delta, and the dry cow Milking Shorthorn champion, Joy-El Erica, exhibited by Heather Crowl, Airville.

NEW VARIETIES FOR 1998

Gardners are looking for new plants every year. Here are new flowers and vegetables that are featured in 1998 mail order seed catalogs, seed packets or as bedding plants at garden centers. This is the third in a series.

Bean 'Marseille French Filet' is prized for its slender, 4 to 5-inch long pods. This is an easy grow, gourmet variety with excellent disease resistance and heat tolerance. Bush Habit.

Carrot 'Bolina' is a golf-ball sized carrot with sweet flavor and deep red-orange color. Its round shape makes it ideal for growing in soils too heavy for other carrots.

Carrot 'Sweet Sunshine' is a lemon-yellow carrot that is unexcelled for fresh eating with a juicy, tender crunch. Its sweet luscious flavor and texture make for refreshing snacks on vegetable platters and in salads. It will forever change how you think about carrots 70-72 days.

Cucumber 'Stix Hybrid' has thin skin, sweet flavor, too, even up to a full size. No need to peel — ideal for the relish tray. Best if grown on trellises to protect the delicate skin against scarring.

Onion 'Candy Hybrid' — If there is an onion variety that is adapted everywhere for spring planting, this is it. This 'mid-day' onion does well in north, south and points in between. Unique, sweet, mild flavor; extreme early maturity and jumbo to colossal bulb sizes add up to make this the best new golden yellow onion ever for home gardening.

Pepper 'Gold Standard' Hybrid is huge 5"x5" blocky, bell peppers mature to a glossy, deep golden yellow. Aromatic and extra-sweet when ripened to full yellow, and excellent in the green stage. Delicious raw, grilled, stuffed or roasted — 73 days from transplant for green, 88 days for yellow.

Pepper 'Mucho Nacho' Hybrid A new jumbo sized jalapeno with fruits an inch longer than standard jalapenos. They're also fatter and heavier, and even somewhat hotter. Great for stuffing and big nacho slices.

Squash 'Starship' is a new Hybrid scallop squash that has consistently delivered high yields of eye-catching, flavorful fruit for home gardeners. This variety's medium to dark-green fruit have a refined scallop shape, small blossom scar, and high gloss which adds to their appeal. An open bush has made the fruit easy to harvest.

Boyer Family Exhibits York Fair Supreme Dairy

JOYCE BUPP
York Co. Correspondent

YORK (York Co.) — A senior-two-year-old Holstein was named the York Fair's supreme champion as the highlight of the open class dairy competition.

Sunnybed Tangelo Counselor, exhibited by Bridgette Boyer Bortner, got the supreme champion nod from judge Mary Creek, Maryland, who praised the winner's size, open frame and quality udder with good veining. Counseler is scored VG-88, finished her two-year lactation at 28,600 pounds and is projected to a three-year lactation of over 30,000. She was part of the showstring of the Tom Boyer family's Sunnybend Farm, York, and in July won the county Holstein show honors as well.

Reserve supreme champion of the fair's open class dairy show was the stylish Ayrshire senior three-year-old, exhibited by East Berlin 4-H'er Jason Stambaugh. Don-Sher Astro Anne was earlier named supreme champion of the junior colored breed competition. Projected to over 18,000 pounds, Anne has scored a string of summer show season successes. She won both the county breed 4-H roundup championship as well as the same title at district competition.

Reserve senior and grand champion in the fair's Holstein runoffs was the junior two-year-old Sunnybend Jump for Joy-ET, also exhibited by the Boyer family. Junior champion honors went to junior exhibitor Michelle Walker, Thomasville, with the summer yearling Walk-Le Encore Mikell. Taking the reserve junior champion title was Amy Trimmer, East Berling, with Coredale Royal Hopie, the winning fall yearling.

Ayrshire reserve senior and grand champion honors were claimed by Dream Valley M.M. Tammy, the four-year-old exhibited by Marv and Norma Jean Bosley, Glenville. Junior champion ribbons went to the winning fall calf, Ray-Knoll Corsaire's Carlee, exhibited by Ray-Knoll farms, Spring Grove. The reserve heifer title went to junior exhibitor Susan Richardson, Fawn Grove, with her winter yearling Wentworth MS Merilee.

Topping the Brown Swiss show for the senior and grant title was Dover junior dairy exhibitor Nathan Hostetter, with the senior three-year-old Wind Mill Hammer Colleen. Brownie Cakes In A Jar

1 cup all-purpose flour
1 cup sugar
½ teaspoon baking soda
¼ teaspoon ground cinnamon (optional)
⅓ cup butter
¼ cup water
3 tablespoons unsweetened cocoa powder
¼ cup buttermilk
1 egg, beaten
½ teaspoon vanilla extract
¼ cup walnuts, finely chopped

Sterilize, two one-pint straight-sided wide-mouth canning jars (specifically made for canning jams and jellies) lids, and rings by boiling for 10 minutes (keep the lids and rings in the hot water until ready to use) set aside.

In a small bowl, stir together flour, sugar, baking soda, and cinnamon, set aside. In a saucepan, combine butter, cocoa, and water. Heat and stir until butter is melted and mixture is well blended. Remove from heat, stir in flour mixture. Add buttermilk, egg, and vanilla, beat by hand until smooth. Stir in nuts.

Divide equally among the two canning jars. Place jars on cookie sheet. Bake in preheated oven at 325 degrees for 35-40 minutes or until a pick inserted into the center is clean. Remove the cakes, one a time, and immediately place on lid and ring; screw tightly. Jars will be very hot. Place jars on counter to cool. You will know when the jars have sealed, when you hear the plinking sound. Cakes will keep in a cool, dry place for up to six months. These make great Christmas gifts.

Canned Pumpkin Bread

⅔ cup shortening
4 eggs
⅔ cup water
½ teaspoon baking powder
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon ground cloves
2⅔ cups sugar
2 cup canned pumpkin
3⅓ cups flour
2 teaspoons baking soda
1 teaspoon cinnamon
⅔ cup chopped nuts (optional)

In a mixing bowl, combine shortening and sugar. Beat until fluffy, about 5 minutes. Add eggs, pumpkin, and water; beat until blended. In a separate bowl, combine flour, baking powder, baking soda, salt, and spices. Stir to blend. Stir into pumpkin mixture. Add nuts and blend well. Pour into greased wide-mouth one-pint jars, filling them less than half fulll of batter. Place a cookie sheet on oven shelf and place jars on sheet. Bake at 325 degrees for about 45 minutes, or until toothpick comes out clean. Remove jars, one at a time while still hot; clean sealing edge; cover with lid and secure band firmly. The band can be removed in 24 hours.

Scholarships Offered

SYRACUSE, N.Y. — Two $500 scholarships are available through the American Dairy Association and Dairy Council, Inc. (ADADC). College students pursuing degrees in the dairy industry from ADADC's marketing area — including New York, northeastern Pennsylvania, and northern New Jersey — are eligible.

The Leo Briggs Memorial Scholarship is available to any collegiate individual who has promoted the dairy industry by exhibiting leadership in dairy industry organizations. Founded in 1983, the scholarship was established as a tribute to Leo Briggs for his superior leadership within the dairy industry for over 30 years.

A second $500 scholarship, the ADADC Memorial Scholarship, is available to former dairy princesses from ADADC's marketing area. The applicant must have completed one year as a dairy princess and one year of college, and must be pursuing a career in dairy product marketing, dairy manufacturing, home economics, ag communications, or journalism. The scholarship is offered in memory of several ADADC staff and board members for their contributions to dairy production.

Both college scholarships are based on grade-point-average, extracurricular activities, future plans, and a 400-word essay discussing the applicant's commitment to a career in the dairy industry. Application deadline for both scholarships is Monday, November 3, 1997.

Scholarship applications are available through agricultural colleges in New York, New Jersey, and Pennsylvania, or by calling the ADADC office at (315) 472-9143. Both scholarships will be presented at the New York State Dairy Princess Pageant held in Syracuse, February 1998.

ADADC oversees the management of the scholarship accounts; however, neither scholarship is funded by dairy farmer check-off dollars. As a result, outside donations are critical to ensure the future availability of these scholarships. Any person or organization wishing to make a donation to either scholarship may do so by sending their checks to Joanne Tills, 219 South West St., Suite 100, Syracuse, NY 13202-1205, payable to ADADC.

Upcoming Strawberry School

HOLLIDAYSBURG (Blair Co.) — Penn State Cooperative Extension is excited to announce the upcoming program "Strawberry School."

Strawberries and other small fruit crops are consistently in large demand and have the potential to add significantly to a farm's bottom line. This one-day school is designed to cover all important aspects of strawberry production. Best management practices for both traditional matted-row and newer raised-bed plasticulture systems will be discussed. Topics will include variety choices, raised bed techniques, day-neutral strawberries, weed, insect, and disease control, irrigation, preventing frost and freeze injury and organic production techniques. The focus of the program is on commercial production, but most of the information is directly usable by hobbyists and gardeners. Growers at all levels are invited to attend.

The "Strawberry School" will be held on Wednesday, November 5, from 8:30 a.m. to 4 p.m. at Irene's Family Restaurant near Bedford. Cost of the program is $27 and includes lunch, break beverages, and snacks as well as all course materials.

Preregistration is required. For registration forms or more information, contact Steve Bogash, Blair County Cooperative Extension (814) 693-3265. Registration forms are also available at Bedford, Cambria, Fulton, Huntingdon, and Somerset Cooperative Extension offices.

Young Dairy Promoters Attend Mini-Seminar

UNIVERSITY PARK (Centre Co.) —

Recently, 115 potential dairy promoters — 82 young dairymaids, ambassadors, representatives and 33 adults gathered at Penn State's Ag Arena for the Eighth Annual Mini-Seminar.

This one-day seminar conducted by present and past dairy royalty is designed to teach the basics of dairy promotion through several workshops and lectures. The workshops included information on cows, dairy industry facts, nutrition, public speaking, personal appearance, and social conduct. Also included this year, for those who had previously attended the Mini-Seminar, was a workshop on going from young promoter to dairy princess or alternate and public speaking skills. The adults in attendance were given a presentation from Betty Reibson on how important the dairy industry is to economic development. Jeff Harding from Protiva, animal science division of Monsanto, spoke about the importance of promoting dairy products and the dairy industry.

The 1995-1996 Alternates Heather Oberholtzer and Yvonne Peterman conducted the workshops for the young promoters assisted by reigning Pennsylvania royalty, Angela Werley, Merideth Weiderspahn, and Lisa Fitch. In conjunction with the PDPPS coordinators Charlene Ranck, Betty Reibson, Wanda Yoder, and program directors Wilbur and Jan Harding led the seminar.

Ida's Notebook

by Ida Risser

Through the years, I've found September to be one of the busiest months of the year.

This year we got bushels of peaches off of our own tree and we bought pears to can. I always seem to preserve more tomatoes than we can use in one season. We have two more plantings of sweet corn and we're hoping they will both mature.

Only one hill of "Roly Poly" zucchini was planted but I have had lots to share with neighbors. They are also glad to get tomatoes and Swiss chard as I have had plenty of both. Sometimes they give me flowers in return.

Considering the care that I give our Concord grapes, I'm surprised at the number of quarts of grape juice that I could put on the basement shelf. Making the juice is like making raspberry jelly and I am glad to only do it one time a year.

The grandchildren help to pick our pole limas off a permanent wire fence by carrying a bucket for me. They see spiders and insects sooner than I do and they are a subject of conversation. They also spy ripe canteloupe before I do and like to point out my colorful gourds.

However, we did take time off to visit an open house at a neighbor's farm. The occasion was when the owner put her 325-acre "Greystone Manor Farm" in a farmland preservation program. The Lancaster Farmland Trust and the Agricultural Preserve Board have worked together to preserve 25,000 acres in our county.

The picnic at the farm was attended not only by farmers but by many city dwellers and suburbanites. It seems that many people are interested in not having all of the land developed.

Head To National Apple Harvest

BIGLERVILLE (Adams Co.) — Head for the foothills of the South Mountains the first two weekends in October! Venture into rural Adams County where you will discover spectacular scenery and the 33rd National Apple Harvest Festival. Sponsored by The Upper Adams Jaycees, the festival will be celebrated October 4-5 and 11-12 from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. daily at the South Mountain Fairgrounds at Arendtsville, in the heart of apple country.

An annual fall event, The National Apple Harvest Festival applauds Adams County's orchardists with a celebration of food, entertainment, and fun for the whole family.

Nothing can be more exciting for an apple than to end up at The National Apple Harvest Festival. See and taste apple products made before your eyes along Candy Apple Lane, Cider Press Alley, and Apple Butter Way. Hear country, bluegrass, and '50s and '60s music at the Bluegrass Hollow, Cider Barrel, and Rockin' Apple Stages performed by more than 15 regional musical groups. At Kid Country Junction, both young and old can join in pie eating and apple bobbing contests, participate in old-fashioned country games, and try out the pedal tractor pull. Find dream machines — antique autos, antique hit 'n miss engines, and antique farm equipment — as you putter along Gas Engine Boulevard and Putt-Putt Alley. Indulge in a shopping spree where more than 350 arts and craft vendors present their finest handmade works along MacIntosh Circle, Jonathan Court, Yellow Delicious Boulevard, and Red Delicious Drive. Taste test the fabulous foods that will tickle your taste buds as you stroll along Ox Roast Junction. Adams Apple Boulevard, and Rome Beauty Way. And, don't forget to visit the National Apple Harvest Festival Gallery, Memory Lane, where you can watch a video on old-fashioned apple production equipment and see Apple Harvest Festival memorabilia.

Other special attractions include a craftsmen demonstration area where a blacksmith, glassblower, weaver, tin smithy, potterer, and moccasin maker will be featured. Meet and visit with Pennsylvania's Apple Queen Stephanie Freed of Aspers who will be making appearances throughout the four-day festival. Visit the petting zoo and then take a bus tour of the orchards that dot the South Mountains surrounding the fairgrounds.

Admission is $6 for adults; senior citizens (62 and over) $5; and children under 12 are free. Parking and shuttles buses are free. However, pets are not allowed on festival grounds!

For information, contact The National Apple Harvest Festival, P.O. Box 38, Biglerville, PA 17307, 717/667-9413 or The Gettysburg Convention and Visitors Bureau, 35 Carlisle St., Gettysburg, PA 17325, 717/334-6274.

Proceeds benefit Oakside Community Park, a 68-acre park one mile east of Biglerville on Route 394, which is owned and operated by the Jaycees, and various community projects.

Attend the National Apple Harvest Festival where Anne Heimbach, Dillsburg, was the grand prize winner in the photo contest last year.

Farms, Ranches Hazardous To Children

ITASCA, Ill. — It is impossible to know the exact number of children who are seriously injured or killed in our nation's farms and ranches each year. Estimates range from 100 to 300 deaths and from 100,000 to 250,000 injuries each year.

While we don't know the exact number of injury events, there are many things we do know about children, production agriculture, and injuries.

• From one-third to one-half of nonfatal childhood agricultural injuries occur to children who do not live on farms.

• The highest farm injury rate is among boys 14-17 years of age.

• Tractors are associated with the greatest number of deaths to children on farms.

• Nonfatal farm injuries are often associated with livestock, falls, small tools, building structures, and moving machinery parts.

In order for a farm to be a safe place for a child to live and/or visit, the farm must first be a safe environment for adults. All standard safety measures and practices should be in place on any farm where children are present. Adults should keep in mind that they are responsible for maintaining the safety of any child or adolescent who may be present on the farm worksite. When assessing when and where a child should be present on a farm worksite, the owner/operator and parent should consider the fact that farming is one of the most hazardous occupations in the U.S. and the worksite holds dangers that are comparable to construction workers and miners. For every hazard present on a farm, there should be a barrier that protects children and other visitors from that hazard.

What can farmers and parents do to protect their children from danger? First of all, it is helpful to know what types of injuries occur most frequently to children in the local region; that is, different types of injuries are associated with different types of production agriculture. Once adults are aware of the primary agents of injury, decisions should be made regarding the appropriateness of having children watching or participating in the work environment. These decisions should be made far in advance of any work requirements that may tempt the adult to have children observe or help with work. Young children are subject to potential problems associated with exposure to dusts, vibration, noise, and other physical hazards in the worksite. Therefore, they should have limited exposure to the farm worksite. As children age and mature, their presence and participation in the worksite should be adapted to their physical and cognitive skills. There are several educational resources that will help farmers and parents determine, if, and when, their child is ready to participate in farm work.

In addition to safety education, specific steps can be taken to minimize risk of agricultural disease and injuries to children:

• Create barriers on farms to prevent children and other visitors from entering particularly hazardous areas

• Work with farming organizations at all levels to develop programs which could provide adequate child care for children of farm families and farm laborers

• Work with safety specialists and farming organizations to develop standards regarding age- and developmentally-appropriate guidelines for children's work in agriculture.

• Prohibit adolescents from operating farm tractors and machinery before they have received formal training and safety certification.

• Never allow children to be riders on tractors.

• Ensure that hired workers understand the risk of disease transmission or chemical exposures to children if they fail to practice cleaning procedures when going home from the worksite.

Farms and ranches are beginning to look more like factories and warehouses than the quiet farmsteads of days gone by. So, rather than letting the farm be a giant playground for kids, let's think of it as an educational, but potentially dangerous worksite that should include children in selected situations.

The National Safety Council encourages all farmers and ranchers to take the first step and put an emphasis on safety during National Farm Safety and Health week and throughout the year. It will take a team effort to prevent injuries to children on the farm and other farm and ranch injuries.

Slick Ads To Reduce Litter Won't Work

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — The plan to launch a slick ad campaign to reduce littering in Pennsylvania is an unwelcome step toward the demise of the Bottle Bill and will do little to effectively control litter or help farmers who must endure and pay for the damage it causes, according to Rep. Jeff Coy (D-89th).

"I personally am not ready to attend the funeral of the Bottle Bill. This proposal, though it has been thwarted for more than a decade, still has good reasons to be kept alive. I am not convinced that the alleged disadvantages this bill would pose for retailers, bottlers, glass manufacturers and recycling facilities would outweigh the advantages to the environment and to our farming community," Coy said.

The Bottle Bill would require a 5-cent deposit on beverage containers and would give retailers a handling fee of one cent for each container accpeted.

"Instead of throwing money into an ad campaign, we should pass the Bottle Bill or find other effective alternatives, including ways to help farmers defray the costs associated with the damage caused to their crops, livestock and equipment," Coy said.

Coy said the State Government should take another look at various proposals before embarking down the expensive road of a statewide advertising campaign.

"Before shelving the idea of a Bottle Bill, we need to continue to come with new, innovative ideas as alternatives to an ad campaign. A costly and largely unsuccessful ad campaign was tried before under the Casey Administration. We're still at square one," Coy said.

NOTES FOR EARLY FALL

Summer is giving way to fall and now we are shifting from summer to fall crops

This summer's dry weather was beneficial in reducing the amount of fungal diseases affecting most crops but it also reduced yields in fields that could not be watered As the growing season starts to wind down, there are a few items that you should give some attention to now. In addition, be sure to make some notes on the successes and failures of this growing season

By next spring you may not be able to remember things as clearly as you would like, especially if your memory works as well as mine!

Fruit

This weekend marks the end of the fall control period for lesser peachtree borers in your orchards These insects will soon stop laying eggs in cankers on peach and nectarine If you did not apply a preharvest borer spray, a postharvest application may be made during the first two weeks of September to control both lesser peachtree borers and some late peachtree borers

Lorsban 4E at a rate of 1.5 to 3 quarts per 100 gallons is the best control option, especially when applied as a coarse, low-pressure handgun application. Note that Lorsban can only be applied one time per year. Be sure to apply at least one gallon of spray per tree, thoroughly wetting the trunk and scaffold limbs and do not apply to trees that still have fruit.

Apple harvest is an excellent time to evaluate the effectiveness of this year's spray program. Benefits from this evaluation include records of the percent of defective/ nongrade fruit, identification of the causes of defects found, yield potential from different blocks or varieties, evaluation of whether control measures worked, and prediction of potential problems from specific pests or diseases for the next growing season.

Deborah Breth from Cornell Cooperative Extension recommends sampling 100 fruit from each of five trees in each block just before harvest Sample half of the fruit from the upper portion of the tree and half from the lower portion. A trend of more defects in one area or the other could indicate sprayer problems

Make careful observations and notes of the types of diseases that are present and the amount of damage caused by insects It is important to identify the type of insect that caused the damage whenever possible to help determine when your spray coverage was inadequate

Deborah notes that if a particular insect causes more than 2% damage you should review scouting records and corresponding spray records to determine where your program failed Use the notes you make now to make changes in your pruning practices and spray programs during the next growing season

As we continue with grape harvest I encourage vineyard managers to also evaluate fruit as it is harvested. Records of fruit defects will enable you to alter your spray program in the future and either increase yields or the bonuses paid by the winery for higher quality fruit. Grape varieties vary in their susceptibility to diseases and any notes you make about disease problems from this year, a relatively low-pressure year, will be especially important in future growing seasons when we have wet weather and a corresponding increase in fungal pressure. Taking the sprayer through your most susceptible varieties first might just save the crop from that field.

VEGETABLES

Vegetable growers should continue to practice weed control through first frost. Any weeds in your fields that are not controlled will mature or have matured a full crop of seeds that will be deposited into the soil. Although total control of weeds is generally not necessary during crop production, fewer seeds dropped into the fields now may result in fewer weeds next year

If your field is harvested I encourage you to plow down the crop residue and weeds to prevent the seeds from maturing. If your fields are not yet harvested you may benefit from controlling the weeds both through seed reduction and better spray applications to the crop.

I have received several calls from pumpkin growers asking when to stop spraying. You need to keep spraying fungicides through harvest, especially on the larger varieties of pumpkin like Howden, to control black rot. This disease can infect fruit that is ripening and the symptoms will not appear until after harvest. As the foliage starts to die down you can stop spraying Bayleton for controlling powdery mildew but as long as the fruit is exposed to the weather you need to keep spraying Bravo plus either Topsin M or Benlate for black rot. These sprays will also help preserve the handles or stems on the fruit

Tomato growers, both in the field and in greenhouses, need to watch for Botrytis gray mold as the weather cools in the fall. Botrytis gray mold affects both vines and fruit on tomato plants especially during wet weather or in the humid environment within a greenhouse.

.When vine growth is dense, tissue shaded within the canopy stays wet for long periods. Affected stem and leaf tissue, generally dead when the disease is detected, usually is covered with the dusty gray spores produced by the fungus. Most fruit that are affected are green.

Botrytis fruit rot causes considerable concern because it can develop in storage after harvest, is messy when it develops in boxes of tomatoes, and can spread from one fruit to another after fruit are packed.

Botrytis gray mold is a spring and fall disease because it is promoted by wet cool conditions, especially present under and within dense vines. After planting, the use of fungicides is the only practical control for Botrytis gray mold.

In the field, the best control is provided by Benlate and Topsin In addition, Bravo, when used for other diseases (blights and fruit rots) helps control Botrytis rot. Mancozeb is not effective for Botrytis rot Less Botrytis rot will develop on plants with vine growth that is moderate than on vine growth that is rank. In the greenhouse use Botran or Exotherm Termil for control but frequently this disease in not a problem with good ventilation and air movement and plants that are not excessively vigorous

NATIONAL LIVESTOCK SHOW CODE OF CONDUCT (PART 2 OF 5) — THE CODE

A loud voice cannot compete with a clear voice, even if it's a whisper.
— Barry Neil Kaufman

Editor's Note: Part two in this series will provide the reader with rules numbered 1 through 5 in the proposed National Livestock Show Code of Conduct. Notice this is a listing of guidelines that all exhibitors must follow to enter livestock at organized competitive events.

As the steering committee for the Pennsylvania Code of Ethics Program for Animal Exhibitions plans to implement a uniform set of guidelines for events specifically in Pennsylvania, it is important for participants to understand some of the local, regional, and especially national guidelines that will influence the final guidelines for Pennsylvania.

The original, unedited initial document will be provided in this series of articles. Responsible comment is invited and welcome.

This code of ethics applies to anyone exhibiting animals at livestock shows in the United States. It includes junior as well as open class exhibitors who compete in structured classes of competition. All classes of livestock offered at the livestock event are included: cattle, (beef and dairy), goats, (Angora, Boer, dairy, meat, Cashmere), equine, (donkey, horses, mules), llamas and other specialty animals, poultry, rabbits, sheep, swine, and any other livestock classes offered.

This "National Livestock Show Code of Conduct" will be enhanced with additional rules and regulations which individual fairs and livestock shows impose on the local, county, state, regional, and national levels.

The following practices or procedures are unacceptable and are defined as being deceptive, fraudulent, unethical, and inhumane in the care, fitting, preparation, and showing of all classes of livestock. The use of any illegal drugs is considered a premeditated act! Furthermore, any information obtained in the practice of illegal alteration of an animal will be turned over to the proper authorities for criminal prosecution.

This is a one-strike-and-you-are-out policy! Owners, exhibitors, fitters, trainers, and absolutely responsible persons who violate the code of conduct demean the integrity of all livestock exhibitors and will forfeit any premium, awards, or auction proceeds, and will be prohibited from further competition at shows in the United States, in accordance with the rules adopted by the respective fairs and livestock shows, as well as being subject to criminal prosecution if proven guilty.

It is recognized there are certain practices in the proper care and management of animals that are necessary in the course of moving them to and between shows that are advisable to keep them in a sound healthy state so they might be presented in the show ring in a natural, normal condition. Conversely, the following practices or procedures are considered unacceptable.

The following is a listing of guidelines all exhibitors must follow to enter livestock at organized competitive events:

1) All exhibitors must have viable proof of ownership available to prove length of time animals have been owned. Market animals (beef, sheep, swine, and goats) must be owned and under exhibitor's daily care according to established rules and regulations for the fair or livestock exposition. This also includes all small market animals (rabbits and poultry). This official ownership date is the date shown on the bill of sale, unless the animal was bred by the exhibitor, in which calving or birth records must be shown. (Local rules may determine ownership requirements for nonmarket animals). Registered breeding livestock must shown the exhibitor as the sole owner of the animal on the breed association papers or certificates.

2) Owners, exhibitors, fitters, trainers, or absolutely responsible persons shall provide animal health certificates from licensed veterinarians upon request by fair or livestock show officials.

3) No exhibitor may show an animal which has been previously sold at an auction or sale as a market animal through another fair or livestock show, whether or not there is an actual change of ownership (progressive level show excluded). Any method used to misrepresent the age of an animal for a class in which is shown is deceptive and considered illegal. Showing an animal for another individual by claiming ownership in order to show in a specific livestock class or event is prohibited. False ownership is illegal.

4) Junior exhibitors are expected to be the primary care provider for their animals, and to care for and groom their animals while at the fair or livestock show. (Individual consideration will be given in extenuating circumstances.) Adults will not be allowed to physically assist in the preparation of the animal while at the show. Verbal instruction will be allowed, but no physical assistance is permitted. Physical assistance may be rendered by other junior aged members in good standing in the 4-H and FFA programs. Any violations of this rule will result in immediate disqualification from the show.

5) Animals shall be presented to show events where they will enter the food chain free of drugs. The act of entering an animal in a livestock show is the giving of consent by the owner, exhibitor, fitter, trainer, and/or absolutely responsible person for show management to obtain any specimens of urine, saliva, blood, or other substances from the animal toe used in testing. Animals not entered in an event which culminates with the animals entering the food chain shall not be administered drugs other than in accordance with applicable federal, state, and provincial statutes, regulations, and rules. Livestock shall not be exhibited if the drugs administered in accordance with federal, state and provincial statutes, regulations, and rules affect the animal's performance or appearance at the event. If the laboratory report on the chemical analysis of saliva, urine, blood, or other sample taken from livestock indicates that presence of forbidden drugs or medication, this shall be prima facie evidence such substance has been administered to the animal either internally or externally. It is presumed that the sample of urine, saliva, blood, or other substances tested by the approved laboratory to which it is sent is the one taken from the animal in question, its integrity is preserved and all procedures of said collection and preservation, transfer to the laboratory analysis of the sample are correct and accurate and the report received from the laboratory pertains to the sample taken from the animal in question and correctly reflects the condition of the animal at the time the sample was taken, with the burden on the owner, exhibitor, fitter, trainer, or absolutely responsible person to prove otherwise at any hearing in regard to the matter conducted by the fair or livestock show. At any time after an animal arrives on the fair or livestock show premises, all treatments involving the use of drugs and/or medications shall be administered by a licensed veterinarian.

Catch Cup System Increases Water Flow

MIDDLEBURY, Ind. — The new Ziggity Hi-Flo Catch Cup design allows birds better access to the drinker while maintaining a cleaner cup surface.

The catch cup features a smooth bottom and rounded tray designed to stay clean. Equipped with one support arm, the cup permits birds unrestricted access to the drinker while its snap-lock design prevents aggressive birds from moving them.

The Hi-Flo system also incorporates Ziggity's patented two-stage metering pin which automatically releases the right amount of water for chicks and 200 percent more water for adults. The result is maximum weight gain and drier litter. Designed to last, all Ziggity drinkers incorporate a hardened stainless steel insert to prevent wear.

Other features include Ziggity's flush-through regulator. The patented high-volume, low-pressure regulator is used in conjunction with the automatic flush end assembly to ensure birds consume cool, clean, fresh water.

The Hi-Flo Catch Cup System is designed for use with both the Ziggity Big Ace and the Ziggity Standard Pipe Systems.

Pioneer Adopts Seed Treatment

GREENSBORO, N.C. — Pioneer Hi-Bred International,Inc. announced it is switching exclusively to Dividend/Apron XL™, a seed treatment fungicide manufactured by Novartis Seed Treatment, citing its proven track record in controlling wheat diseases as well as its excellent worker safety profile.

"We have studied and tested Dividend over an extended period and are very confident that it will further enhance Pioneer wheat genetics," said Clive Holland, wheat product manager for Pioneer Hi-Bred, headquartered in Iowa. "Better efficacy in controlling diseases as well as enhanced handling safety are the two key reasons we have selected Dividend to use on Pioneer wheat."

The decision to use Dividend was also based on its potential global use. "One of our company goals is to use products that will likely be approved and registered for use worldwide," said Holland.

Regional seed companies also report increased use of Dividend/ Apron XL to treat wheat seed. "We find that Dividend enhances winter survival and early season Septoria leaf blight infection. We've observed healthier wheat plants in the spring. Therefore, more of our wheat product has been treated with Dividend/Apron XL. It offers great value to the wheat grower," said Tom Diener of Diener Brothers Seed in Reynolds, Ind.

Pete Clark, regional manager for Hutson's Ag. Service Inc. of Murray, Ky., said, "Dividend has worked very well for us. We've seen noticeable improvement in winter survival of wheat and increased early season powdery mildew control. It has been very effective against Septoria."

Dividend was developed by Novartis Seed Treatment (formally Ciba Seed Treatment) to protect seed and young seedlings against yield-robbing diseases, such as Septoria, loose smut, seedborne scab, and common root rot (Cochliobolus). It is a broad-spectrum systemic seed treatment for wheat that is applied at the 0.5 or 1.0 ounce rate per 100 pounds of seed. At the 1.0 ounce rate, the fungicide also provides protection against fall season diseases such as powdery mildew, leaf rust, and Septoria leaf blotch.

This is the second year that Apron XL treatment for Pythium, has been packaged with Dividend so growers have Pythium control at no additional cost.

Early Detection Cuts Ileitis Costs

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. — Today's pork producers are learning that the old saying, "An ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure," rings very true when it's referring to ileitis in their herds. That's because this disease can strike any herd with little or no warning and cause serious health, performance, and economic damage in a short time.

In published studies, pigs with chronic ileitis have shown a decrease in average daily gain of up to 35 percent and feed efficiency can worsen by up to 20 percent. When calculated, the loss in growth performance combined with more cull and light pigs can add up to as much as $8.50 per head. Acute ileitis can cause death losses of up to 5 percent in affected herds.

While new diagnostic tools make identifying ileitis easier, experts say paying close attention to herd performance and taking steps of prevention are the only sure ways of controlling this disease. This advice is good for the entire industry, since even well-managed operations with high-health, high-lean pigs are particularly at risk of getting ileitis.

Despite the dramatic size variation of these penmates, they all had the same starting weight. The uneven outcome can be linked to ileitis. This widespread disease can also result in pale/anemic pigs, loss of appetite, dehydration, and even sudden death.

"I tell producers to look for sudden changes in color and/or consistency of the pigs' stools," said Max Rodibaugh DVM, Frankfort, Ind. "If ileitis is present, the stool may become loose and the color will often be dark red to brown. The pigs may drop off in performance and become thin as well."

While these are the classic symptoms of chronic ileitis, experts remind producers that they must realize how much this disease can affect the performance and profitability of an entire operation. With that in mind, producers should also review performance data to help them spot signs of ileitis.

Rodibaugh said, "I've been surprised sometimes after postmortems to find lesions from ileitis even when we did not observe diarrhea in the pigs. This being the case, it makes sense for producers to take some preventative measures and get a good diagnosis before an ileitis problem becomes severe."

Pork producers can now follow Dr. Rodibaugh's advice with the help of a new tool. The Food & Drug Administration has approved Tylan® Premix as the only product for the prevention and control of ileitis when used at the 100-gram level.

Bt Hybrids Show Ear Mold Reduction

DES MOINES, Iowa — Corn growers planting hybrids containing the Bt gene to combat damage from European corn borer (ECB) and other pests may realize yet another benefit from this new technology — a lower occurrence of ear molds.

Research conducted at Iowa State University indicates hybrids that express the Bt toxin in the ear, such as Pioneeer hybrids containing the YieldGard gene, have significantly less symptoms of ear mold caused by the mycotoxin-producing fungi from the genus Fusarium.

"1997 is the fourth year we will be observing the incidence of Fusarium ear mold in hybrids with the BT gene compared to the isoline of each hybrid," said Gary Munkvold, extension plant pathologist at ISU in Ames, Iowa. "To date the results look very favorable. Because there is significantly less ear feeding in specific Bt hybrids, we've seen the incidence of ear mold decrease substantially as well."

In fact, Munkvold's studies indicate that when plants were manually infested with ECB, incidence of Fusarium ear molds in the Bt hybrids observed was from 50 t0 90 percent less than that of standard hybrids.

Observations by researchers at Pioneer Hi-Bred International, Inc., also indicate similar reductions. This fall, Pioneer will measure ear mold occurrence and mycotoxin levels in its entire lineup of commercial and experimental hybrids containing the YieldGard gene.

At certain levels, mycotoxins in grain infected by ear molds decrease feed efficiency and at higher levels can cause livestock to refuse feed. Feed contaminated with high mycotoxin levels can decrease reproductive efficiency, especially in swine. Fumonosin can even cause death in horses.

While hybrids with the Bt gene offer growers a potential solution to reducing the incidence of ear molds, combating this pathogen by planting such hybrids may not be practical for all corn producers. That's just one reason Pioneer researchers in the lab and field are aggressively searching for genetic solutions to curb fungi which cause ear molds.

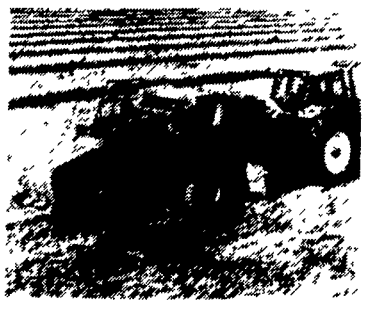
"Pioneer has been conducting research on ear molds for more than 60 years," said Dr. Joe Keaschall, corn research director at Pioneer. "Developing an understanding of these pathogens and breeding resistance to ear molds is a complex and time-consuming process. However, today's biotechnological advances are giving us powerful tools to understand how infection takes place and new means to prevent it."

Big Balers Handle Hay, Silage, Straw

NEW HOLLAND (Lancaster Co.) — Two new New Holland big balers provide dense, uniform bales for more efficient, maximum payload transport and lowest cost mechanical handling in the field and at the destination.'The balers use efficient precompression feeding systems that measure each plunger charge of crop for very uniform bale length and density.

The new Model 590 4-tie big baler makes bales 35 inches tall and 32 inches wide. The Model 595 is a 5-tie unit for 35-inch x 47-inch bales. Both make their bales in any length from 49 to 98 inches and are designed for high capacity baling in hay, straw, or silage crops.

Automatic, hydraulic bale density control is provided by both top and side bale chamber pressure. Bale Command™ monitors keep tabs on bale density, bale count, knotter performance, plunger strokes per stuffer stroke, plunger force, as well as pickup and packer performance. Heavy duty fans prevent chaff and other material buildup at the knotters to help avoid mis-ties. Independent, hydraulically-driven Bale Eject™ lets the operator remove the last bale for the field automatically, without leaving the tractor cab.



New Holland Models 590 and 595 big balers are designed for large-acreage hay producers, custom operators, and shippers.

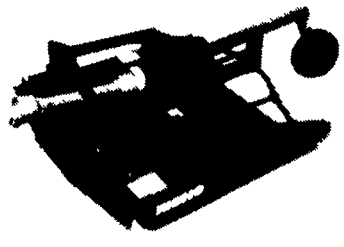
Wide angle, CV-PTO drives and wide pickups help make these balers easier to maneuver for cleanest crop gathering, said Product Manager Bob Hatz. The bale size options offer most-efficient, least-cost handling all the way from the windrow to the feedlot.

Tree Cutters Clear Trails

SEGUIN, Texas — Heavy-duty agricultural or industrial applications including electrical and pipeline right-of-way maintenance are made easier with the Lumberjack tree cutter from Servis-Rhino.

The LJ72 cuts a 72 inch swath and is designed for use on conventional or bi-directional tractors of at least 90 HP, with adequate front weight, to cut trees and brush up to 6 inches in diameter.

Toughness and durability are assured by the ¼ inch thick reinforced deck, ½ inch thick side skirts, 140 HP gearbox featuring a 2-3/4 inch diameter output shaft, and the four ¾ inch x 6 inch reversible blades. The 720 pound blade carrier and the extended rear side skirts make operation easier. The massive blade carrier creates a tremendous "flywheel effect" for easier cutting in extreme conditions. The extended rear side skirts help direct trees and brush into the blades and help deflect the cut material for greater safety.



Heavy-duty agricultural or industrial applications including electrical and pipeline right-of-way maintenance are made easier with the Lumberjack tree cutter from Servis-Rhino.

Feed Additive Provides Environmental Benefits

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. — To produce the lean meat consumers demand, the pork industry uses the most-advanced breeding techniques and the latest management practices.

This means feeding today's hogs high levels of protein to maximize performance. However, bacteria in a pig's stomach can reduce its ability to absorb these proteins, which leads to nitrogen and phosphorus excretions in manure.

According to recent research, Tylan®, a product used safely in the pork industry for years to improve growth, also helps to increase protein utilization. As a feed-grade growth promoter, it naturally inhibits harmful bacteria, helping to reduce the amount of manure generated without sacrificing pig performance.

"A feed-grade growth promoter controls bacteria, keeping the stomach lining thin, causing nutrients to be absorbed more efficiently," said Dr. Bob Thaler, and extension swine specialist at South Dakota State University. "There is better absorption of the nitrogen, amino acids and proteins, maximizing lean growth. So producers potentially can cut 10 to 15 percent of the protein from the pig's diet and still get the same performance as long as they are using a feed-grade growth promoters. This saves producers quite a bit of money, because protein and amino acids are some of the most expensive components of a pig's diet."

How much can feed-grade growth promoters impact waste output? With only a 0.14 pound improvement in feed efficiency for 220 pounds of gain, means a pig will consume 31 pounds less feed. In an operation marketing 10,000 head annually, this adds up to: 154 tons less feed consumed, 110,900 gallons less water consumed, 113,500 gallons less manure/urine produced, 6,600 pounds less nitrogen excreted, and 2,200 pounds less phosphorous excreted.

Tylan has been used for more than 30 years in the pork industry to improve growth performance and control disease. Producers find it fits easily into today's advanced management systems such as segregated early weaning and phase feeding to increase feed efficiency.

KRAUSE CONSERVATION TILLAGE

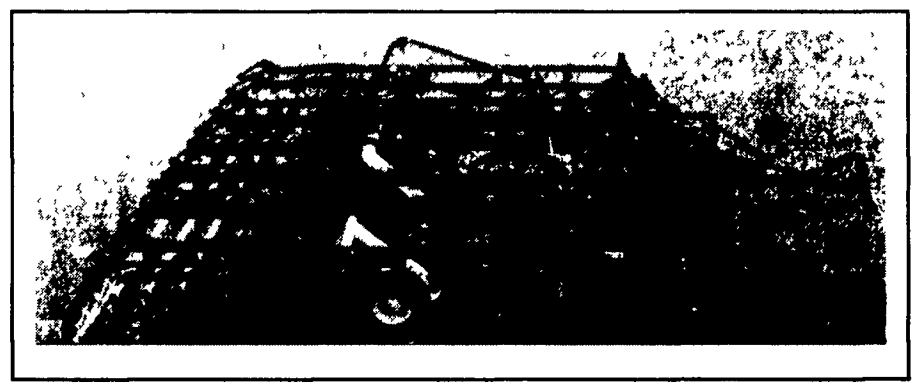
FINISH TILLAGE SYSTEMS

ONE PASS Tillage is REALITY

6150 XT LANDSMAN

Combines Primary & Secondary Tillage with Seedbed Finishing

6300 LANDSTAR



Heavy Residue does not stop this Machine

Both Machines feature Krause's "2-Piece K-tine" - 180 pound point load - and/or the XT270 Shank - 270 pound point load - in combinations that till, and level the soil so that you are ready to plant after one pass. The LANDSTAR is designed to handle heavy crop residue without disking or shredding first. The trash moves on through. The secret to the finished seedbed is on the back - combination of rolling baskets and heavy-duty 16" spring tines level the ground and incorporate any trash that's present.

High-Residue FIELD CULTIVATORS

KRAUSE invented HEAVY-DUTY

2-Piece K-Tine provide superior 25" clearance for trash flow.

Self-leveling tongue automatically levels the unit when changing depth.

5 Rows of Shanks - 125" front to back.

The 4200HR Field Cultivator is the Conservation Leader

Herbert Hoover Farney says, "I didn't think they could mix it."

Steve, Dale, and Herbert Hoover Farney
Silvery Falls Farms - Lowville, NY

Mr. Farney is talking about mixing 11.5% long stem dry hay by ration weight in the Knight Reel Auggie 3450, which he and his sons decided to purchase in September of 1994.

Herbert was born the day Herbert Hoover was elected president.

The Farneys previously owned a three-auger Oswalt stationary unit. They state that the "old mixer tended to ball material up, especially in wetter forages, while the Reel Auggie 3450 'fluffs' the ration."

The Farney's herd average is up about 1,000 lbs., and they have a higher protein test as well. They milk 160 Holsteins, and feed a total of 260 head. They like the low power requirement — the 390 cubic foot machine is powered by a John Deere 2030 tractor

Customer Comments
- FORAGE BOXES I would not own another brand forage box- built & designed for strength - the most smooth unloading box I have ever seen - simple to replace variable speed belt when needed.
- V-TWIN SPREADERS I've had other brand spreaders that would jam up with pen packed manure. No problems with this H&S spreader. Excellent unit for topdressing pen packed manure after cuttings of hay. Come back next cutting & you never knew you hauled manure on the field. It just rips it to shreds.
- BOX-TYPE SPREADERS Full length frame - no pulling off of the box. T-Rod chain - it is the heavy weight of box-type spreader
- BI-FOLD RAKES I never raked so fast in my life - Really gentle on the hay, well built unit - I would not want to do a cutting of hay without it.

JUST RECEIVED: * 2 more forage boxes on 12 ton gears
1 - USED DION 16' w/roof on 10 Ton Gear

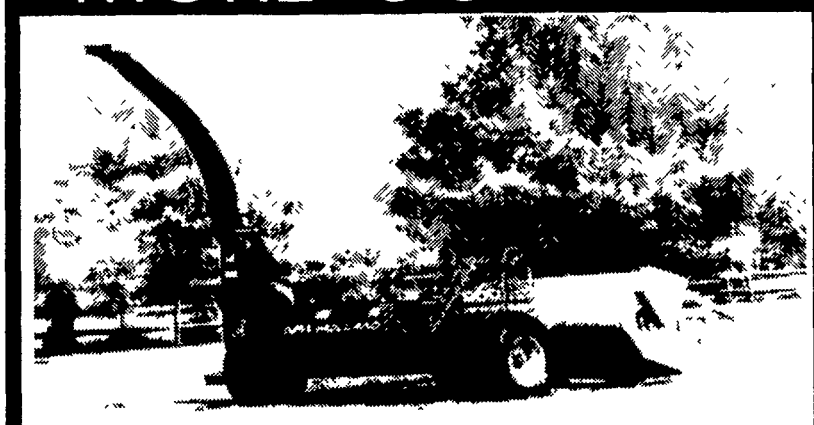
MORE CONTROL



DESIGNED FOR TOTAL PERFORMANCE

The superior design and greater flexibility of the New Holland Model 900 put you in control. This forage harvester is designed to meet the needs of big-crop producers. You get capacity, reliability and efficiency.

- The massive 21-inch cutterhead uses hardened alloy knives with tungsten edges for a uniform chop.
- Under-knife baffles reduce crop carry-over and increase chopping capacity.
- Exclusive flip-up feedrolls let you inspect the shearbar and smooth roll scraper.
- The electric clutch provides immediate response and positive control of reversing gearbox.
- Optional Metalert® III protects equipment and livestock,

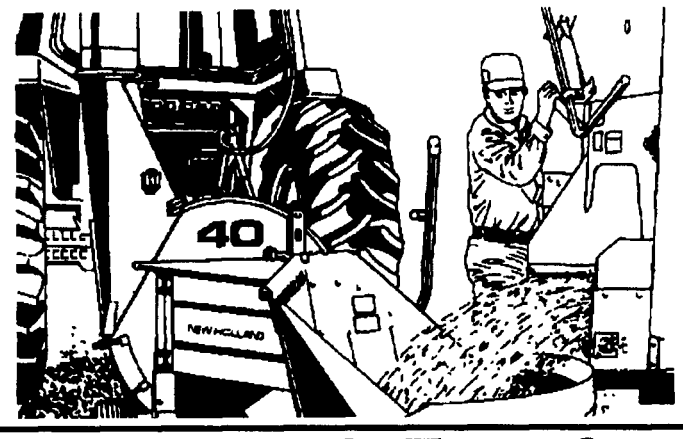
SAVE TIME



WHIRL-A-FEED® SPINNING ACTION

The New Holland Model 40 forage blower saves you time at the silo. This 100-rpm blower features a 48-inch diameter hopper that center-fills silos 80 feet and higher. The Whirl-a-Feed® rotary table spins crops into the blower housing, and material gets off to a fast start up the blower pipe. Spinning action breaks up heavy clumps, and virtually eliminates plugging. There's less drag on the fan, and more efficient use of the tractor's horsepower. Find our how to save time with the Model 40 from New Holland.

LUCK//NOW MIXER FEEDERS "P" SERIES

Since 1979 LUCK//NOW Mixer Feeders have been recognized as one of the most dependable and strongest built mixers in the field.

To enhance its existing line of Mixer Feeders, LUCK//NOW introduces the "P" Series of Mixer Feeders with six models ranging in size from the Model 300 with a mixing capacity of 310 cubic ft., to the Model 575 with a mixing capacity of 625 cubic ft.

The Large diameter augers in all the "P" Series Mixer feeders are capable of giving the mix required, from rations with well cured, long stemmed legume-type hay, to mixes with green grass, and mixes with silage and commodities. Better milk production, better weight gains and greatly improved animal health are just some of the results of a finely-tuned feed ration.

ANTIBIOTICS DAMAGE THE IMMUNE SYSTEM
Vitamix FEEDS THE IMMUNE SYSTEM
You Can Sell The Milk
When You Use Vitamix Instead Of Antibiotics

Vitamix is for every contagious disease & every kind of infection. Support the immune system their lives depend on it.

You can sell the milk when feeding Vitamix. Vitamix is a mixture of vitamins, minerals, enzymes, electrolytes, and proteins, especially calculated to feed the immune system. Vitamix is the result of over 20 years research and over 20,000 feeding experiments. Vitamix ingredients are so micro pulverized and easily digestible that some of them melt in the mouth and are absorbed into the bloodstream while the cow is still chewing her feed. Her organs increase the output of antibodies (white cells) within minutes, and can often double the output of antibodies within one hour after consuming Vitamix, and you can get Vitamix without a prescription. Vitamix is all natural. You just put Vitamix in the feed whenever there are symptoms of a contagious disease or infection.

The cow's immune system can cure any and every kind of contagious disease and infection quicker, safer, more consistently than any medical drug in the world when you support the immune system. The immune system is the only real defense. I keep cows and horses for feeding experiments.The last tlme I used an antibiotic was in 1984 and haven't lost a cow, calf or horse since I quit using antibiotics.

Any time any human or animal gets a contagious disease or any kind of infection, it is for one reason, and one reason only; The immune system failed to do an adequate job of defending against it. In other words, the immune system let you down.

Every time you use antibiotics, sulfa drug or an immune stimulator; you weaken the immune system. See the Physicians Desk Reference (PDR) for more information on the side effects of antibiotics. The information in the PDR was provided by the drug companies that make the drugs as required by law.

Shouldn't we be feeding the immune system instead? Support the immune system. Their lives and health depend on it. Feed Vitamix every time for every contagious disease or infection.

Vitamix is the best procedure in the world for Mastitis. It is quick and easy and you can sell the milk when feeding Vitamix.

How long does it take when you take the "Support the immune system approach?" I have seen calves that were down, had high fever, bloody scours and were dehydrated. One needed help to hold its head up. The only thing I gave them was Vitamix and water. In three hours, I had to run them down and get them cornered to give the Vitamix. Dairymen tell me that Vitamix is faster than anything else they ever used.

When there is a serious case of anything contagious or infectious; I give Vitamix once an hour for three hours, or until they are back on their feed and doing noticeably better. I continue Vitamix six times daily for a few days. Vitamix typically costs only $2 to $3 a day for a cow (less for a calf). The total cost for one cow for one illness is typically $8 to $10 from start to finish.

Vitamix costs less than antibiotics, and you can get it without a prescription. Vitamix is completely drug free!!! You can sell the milk when you use Vitamix!!! (When you use antibiotics, you pour the milk out for 5 days, sometimes more. You risk making a mistake and pouring all your milk out for 5 days or more.)

You save money Every Time you use Vitamix. Get some Vitamix now to keep on hand. Use Vitamix as soon as you see symptoms of anything contagious or infectious. You will know you did the right thing within hours.

Preventing and curing all contagious disease and infections boils down to this. Increasing the capacity to produce white cells (Antibodies). All white cells are made by the bone marrow. Antibiotics cause "bone marrow depression" thereby reducing its ability to make white cells to fight diseases and infection (See Physician's Desk Reference Book [PDR]).

I have done over 20,000 feeding experiments on healing the body, and have yet to find an incurable contagious disease or infection.

Why sit around waiting for a miracle? You can order Vitamix right now. Miracles are great and they do happen now and then; if you wait around one might happen for you. But the immune system is a miracle. You can order Vitamix today and keep it on hand, then you will have it when you need it.

Vitamix ...when you need a miracle. The best source of information about Vitamix is people who have used it. Ask a friend about Vitamix.

KEYSTONE INTERNATIONAL LIVESTOCK EXPOSITION NEWS

FARM SHOW COMPLEX, HARRISBURG, PA

October 1 to October 6, 1997

The show is sponsored by the Pennsylvania Livestock Association, the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture, and the Pennsylvania Farm Show Commission.

1997 Keystone International Livestock Exposition

The Keystone International Livestock Exposition is in its 41st year at Harrisburg. The Exposition is recognized nationally as a showcase for the nation's top beef cattle, swine, sheep, and horses. It will be held at the Farm Show Complex in Harrisburg on October 1-6, 1997.

The year 1997 has been designated as "Year of the Sheep," so sheep exhibitors will receive special attention as part of the effort to increase public awareness of the sheep industry and the high caliber of shows held annually at KILE. The National Merino Show will be featured, along with the Great Lakes Regional Rambouillet Show, the Regional Hampshire, Suffolk, Dorset and Montadale shows.

Increased interest and entries have led the show management to expand the horse program to seven days, the Haflinger Show will be on Tuesday evening. Once again, part of the draft horse-hitch show is a qualifying event in the North American Six Horse Hitch Classic Series, and many of the country's top rated hitches will work to earn points for the national event.

Other livestock will also garner international attention. The Limousin Show has been designated as a Limousin Medal of Excellence Show, Level II one of eight approved regional competitions that qualify exhibitors for their national show.

Hundreds of collegiate, FFA and 4-H students from several states always enter the junior livestock judging and stockman contests at KILE. These keen educational competitions are excellent

Tony Dobrosky Named To Hall Of Fame

Anthony G. Dobrosky, Glen Rock, PA will be honored on Wednesday, October 1 as the 1997 Hall of Fame Winner for the Pennsylvania Livestock Association. The ceremony will be held at the Keystone International Livestock Exposition beginning at 3 in the small arena of the Farm Show Complex. His picture will be hung on the Small Arena wall with the 27 previous winners of this prestigious award. This award is given by the Pennsylvania Livestock Association and is chosen on the following three criteria: contribution to the livestock industry, involvement with the Pennsylvania Livestock Association and contribution to the community.

Tony Dobrosky

Tony Dobrosky inspires, encourages, motivates, supports and "speaks" livestock to all he comes in contact with. He believes strongly in the youth of our state and does everything within his power to develop and educate them to be productive citizens.

Tony was born in Armstrong County in 1929. He graduated from Elders Ridge High School and received his Bachelor of Science and Master of Science degree from Pennsylvania State University. He is married to the former Patricia Leiden and they have two daughters, Laurie Dobrosky and Lisa Dobrosky Hartman and two granddaughters.

His agriculture extension career began in York County, starting out his career as a summer assistant and ending his extension work as County Extension Director, retiring in 1991. His accomplishments are extensive. Some of the highlights include organizing county beef, sheep and swine organizations, coaching 4-H meats, livestock and horse judging teams, organizing a county feeder calf sale, organizing a sheep and wool field day, developing a swine carcass show, scheduling educational tours for various producer groups and serving as advisor for the planning, funding and building of the county 4-H Center.

His Pennsylvania Livestock Association involvement includes serving as president of the association for three years and serving as chairman of nearly every committee of the group. It was during his tenure as president that the Keystone International Rib Cookoff and Music Fest was established and he has served as chairman of this group for the past four years.

Very active in the Keystone International Livestock Exposition, he currently serves as beef chairman, but has previously served as Barnyard Babies Exhibit Chairman, Junior Stockman contest Chairman and has been a member of the Executive Committee for many years.

Active in the Pennsylvania Farm Show, Tony has worked diligently to improve the Livestock Sale and has been an avid supporter and member of the Livestock Sale Committee and a board member of the Farm Show Youth Foundation.

Other community and civic involvement includes York County Farm-City Week, York County Historical Society Bicentennial Wagon Train Committee, York County Farmers Forum, York County Chamber of Commerce Agriculture Committee, Pennsylvanians for Responsible Use of Animals, Agricultural/Industrial Museum of York County, PA Agricultural Safety Council, South Central Cattlemen's Association, Philadelphia Society for the Improvement of Agriculture, Pennsylvania Equine Council, York County Farm and Natural Lands Trust, York County Pork Producers and the York Agricultural Society, which conducts the York Fair.

From 1991 - 1996, Tony was employed by the Glatfelter Agribusiness Insurance Agency as a Director of Client Services. He worked trade shows on the east coast, from New York to Virginia, always giving advice and assistance to all who asked.

At the present time, Tony serves as President of the Central Market House in York. This work, plus his continued involvement with volunteer organizations, keeps our 1997 Hall of Fame Winner very busy, even in retirement.

Challenge Of The Breeds

The Friday, October 3 evening arena program at the 1997 Keystone International Livestock Exposition, will be the "Challenge of the Breeds." This show pits nine internationally recognized horse breeds, the Appaloosa, Arabian, the Paint, Half-Arabian, Morgan, Palomino, Pinto, Quarter Horse, Percheron, and Saddlebred, against each other in an evening of fun and mastery. These animals have been chosen by their respective breed associations. In order to compete, the horse must be owned by a Pennsylvania resident. The event is sponsored in part by the Fieldstone Meadows Horse Farm, Dallastown, Pa.

The six events in which each horse can be entered include:

A. Pleasure Driving — Horses are asked to perform both ways at a walk and trot.

B. English Pleasure — In English tack, horses will perform both directions at a walk, trot and a canter.

C. Hunter Hack — In addition to performing on the rail, the horse will be asked to take two jumps.

D. Western Pleasure — In western gear, the horse will walk, jog, and lope in both directions.

E. Western Riding — The horse performs a prescribed course which demonstrates the performance of a well-mannered ranch horse.

F. Barrel Racing — A timed event in the clover-leaf pattern is performed by the horse.

The horses will be judged at each of these events on a point system by a qualified judge. The winning horse will receive the distinction of being the Keystone Sovereign Champion and will receive an award of $1,000. The Reserve Champion will be awarded $500. Placings will be paid through eigth place.

This marks the eighth time that a "Challenge of the Breeds" event has been held in Pennsylvania. The Draft Horse teams will also perform in competitive classes during the evening. Over 20 different teams are expected to be in competition.

The show will begin at 7 p.m. on Friday evening, October 3, at the PA Farm Show Arena, Harrisburg, Pa., and the admission fee for the show is $5.

Also appearing at the Friday evening show will be the "Historic Coast to Coast Hitch." Their arena performance will be a real asset to the show. They were the winner of the Classic Hitch Series in 1995. They come from Nashua, Iowa and put on a dazzling display with these 2,200-pound giants.

Why not plan to come and enjoy the 1997 Keystone International Livestock Exposition?

The challenge of the breeds always a highlight.

Sponsors Assist In Production of KILE

The Keystone International Livestock Exposition is in its 41st year at Harrisburg. The Exposition is recognized nationally as a showcase for the nation's top beef cattle, swine, sheep, and horses. It will be held at the Farm Show Complex in Harrisburg on October 1-6.

To date, 71 major sponsors have committed funds to support the Keystone International Livestock Exposition. A sponsorship program was put together a few years ago to assist in funding the show as well as to promote the show. With the revamped KILE program, many opportunities exist for agricultural companies and individuals to get involved.

Fieldstone Meadow Horse Farm, York, PA is sponsoring the "Challenge of the Breeds" show on Friday evening in the large arena. This event will pit nine internationally recognized horse breeds: Appaloosa, Arabian, Half-Arabian, Percheron, Paint, Quarter Horse, Morgan, Palomino and Pinto against each other in an evening of fun and mastery. A total of 12 horses chosen by their respective breed associations will be entered in the competition. The "Keystone Sovereign Champion" will then receive $1,000.

Sponsoring the Kiddie Pedal Pull is Evergreen Tractor Sales at Myerstown, PA Dennis Grumbine, owner, reports that he chose the Kiddie's Pedal Pull to sponsor because of the close tie-in with the equipment business. The Pedal Pull will be held on Saturday, October 4, at 3 p.m. The event is open to children between the ages of 3 and 8.

Kessler Meats has chosen to sponsor our daily "Kessler's Barnyard," as it is called, where kids of all ages can touch and pet barnyard animals. Kessler's Meats is located in Lemoyne, PA.

Horse Pulling Contest

New to the 1997 Keystone International Livestock Exposition is the Keystone International Horse Pull contest. Forty teams from all over the country will compete in this traditional Draft Horse event on Wednesday, October 1. The event begins at 6 in the large arena. A $5 admission will be charged.

The horses will be divided into two classes. The lightweight team class will be 3,225 pounds and less and the heavyweight team will be over 3,225 pounds. Premiums will be paid through 20th place with the first prize in each class being $500. So come cheer on your favorite team at this new 1997 livestock show event.

Heavy Hitch Classic Set

On Saturday, October 4th, the Farm Show Arena will come alive with the sound of thundering hooves. The Heavy Hitch Classic will begin at 7:00 p.m. in the Large Arena of the Farm Show Complex. An admissin fee of $5.00 per person will be charged at the gate.

Hitches come from five states and represent five major draft horse breeds.

Also appearing at the Saturday evening shows will be the "Historic Coast to Coast Hitch" formerly the Reminisce Hitch. Their arena will be a real asset to the show. They were the winner of the Classic Hitch Series in 1995.

In 1996, over 200 six-horse hitchers were entered in the 45 qualifying shows across the United States and Canada. The Keystone International Livestock Exhibition is again a qualifying show for the 1997 year. Prize money will be awarded at the KILE Show.

The North American Six-Horse Hitch Classic Series is the ultimate driving event in the heavy horse world. The Keystone International Livestock Exposition has been chosen as one of 45 recognized Qualifying Shows on the Classic Series Show circuit. Each year all across America, six-horse hitches perform at state fairs and agricultural exhibitions to accumulate points for their region and beyond competing at Qualifying Shows spread across Canada and the United States. The competition builds to a climax at the end of the year when the high-point hitches are invited to compete in the final competition, the Classic Series. The winner of the Classic Series All Breed Trophy is considered by many to be the best six-horse hitch in the world.

The four major draft horse breeds that compete in the Classic Series are Belgians, Percherons, Clydesdales, and Shires. Hitches are judged on conformation, manners, the proper fit and cleanliness of the harness, the appropriateness of the wagon, and the hitch's way of going. The stride of a draft horse at the walk should be long, one that covers ground, with plenty of snap. The trot should be stylish, giving the distinct impression of power and energy.

The real winner of the Classic Six-Horse Hitch Series is the spectator. Over 400 draft horses will be on display and it is expected that over fifteen six-horse hitches will be in competition for the Classic at the Keystone.

RICK ADAM AS PROFESSOR PADDY WHACK'S ONE MAN PARADE

Saturday Is Kid's Day at KILE

The Keystone International Livestock Exposition has chosen Saturday, October 5, 1997 as a special day for children. Daily attractions continue throughout Kid's Day including Professor Paddy Whach's One Man Band. The professor is animated and funny, he plays a mechanical collection of over 50 pounds of musical gizmos, noise makers and special effects. He will be strolling the Farm Show facility during Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

Kessler's "Barnyard" is open all week long providing a unique experience for the children to actually touch and hold farm animals such as a calves, sheep, donkey and baby pigs. A farmer will be there to answer any questions youngsters may have.

Lebanon Valley National Bank is sponsoring the "AgriKid Olympics" at noon. The Olympics is a fun time for kids as they compete is such farm-related events as Sack Races, Wheelbarrow Races, Laughing Contest, Horseshoe Pitch and Hog-Calling Contest.

The Kiddie Pedal-Power Tractor Pull, sponsored by Evergreen Tractor Sales at Myerstown, is a special event very similar to the big tractor pulls seen at many county fairs. Children must preregister at 1:30 for the event which will be held at 3 p.m. The event is limited to 80 participants. So be sure to sign up early.

So, why not plan to bring your children to the 1997 Keystone International Livestock Exposition at the Farm Show Complex in Harrisburg, PA.

The Historic Coast to Coast Hitch

Coast To Coast Hitch To Appear At KILE

The Historic Coast to Coast Hitch, formerly known as the Reminisce Hitch, will be appearing at the 41st annual Keystone International Livestock Exposition at the Farm Show Complex in Harrisburg, PA on Friday, October 3 and Saturday, October 4. This championship Belgian Team will be on display on the Main Floor of the Farm Show arena from 8 a.m. on Friday until 6 on Saturday evening. The hitch will then be featured during both the Friday and Saturday evening performances, which begin at 7 both nights. There is no admission or parking charge for viewing the display on the main floor, but a $5 admission fee is charged for the arena performances.

During 1993 and 1994, David and Vikki Helmuth toured this six-horse hitch across America from the Atlantic Ocean waters, off the coast of Maine, to the Pacific Ocean, off the coast of California. It was a 16-month tour. The Hitch consists of six Belgians: Chip, Magic, Firestone, JR, Bobby and Jack. The horses weigh from 2,200 to 2,500 lbs. and are 18 -19 hands high. Each horse consumes about 30 lbs. of sweet feed, 30 lbs. of high quality alfalfa hay, 25 gallons of water and is bedded in fresh straw daily. Each animal is smartly attired in its individual brass and patent leather harness, weighing 150 lbs. per horse. The handsome custom painted red and chrome-trimmed wagon they pull weighs 4,500 lbs.

The show they proudly produce promises to entertain both young and old. This show will be teamed up with approximately six other competitive hitch events for the Saturday evening performance. Friday evening, they will be performing with the popular "Challenge of the Breeds" competition. This show pits nine internationally recognized horse breeds against each other in an evening of fun and mastery.

The Helmuths have many, many fans in the tri-state area. They have appeared in New Holland and many have followed them for the past five years in Reiman Publications "Country Magazine." So why not plan to attend the 1997 Keystone International Livestock Show and take a look at these and 450 other gentle equine giants. See you at the Farm Show Complex.

Shepherd's Lead Line

HARRISBURG, Pa. — Who looks better, the Sheep or the Shepherd? Judges will tell at the Keystone International Livestock Exposition Shepherd's Lead Line Competition to be held on Saturday, October 4, 1997 precisely at NOON at the Farm Show Complex.

The objectives of this class are to present a class of yearling ewes in a most attractive manner and give spectators an opportunity to see the best of the sheep industry.

The normal procedure at a Livestock Show is for the animal to be all primped and lovely, but in our Lead Line Competition the Leadsman is also in the limelight. Both are to be dressed fashionably in their best wool outfit. (At least 80 percent wool).

Not just another pretty face can steal our show. Our herdsperson must not only look terrific, but our sheep must also show their modeling talents.

The Lead Line Competition has been around K.I.L.E. for years and each year it gets easier for our contestants to find their Wool Garments.

We help point out the virtues of wool. It is a product that has been around forever and in recent years is making a well deserved comeback.

The Keystone International Livestock Exposition is sponsored by the Pennsylvania Livestock Association in cooperation with the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture and the Pennsylvania Farm Products Show Commission.

Cost-efficient Centurydrain® roofing and siding is on some of the best looking buildings in the country.

Build with Centurydrain roofing and siding and you've built a money-wise structure. Full-hard, high tensile galvanized steel, and an exclusive drain channel for a dry interior give you a building that'll handle years of hard duty and hard weather. Good looking, too. Crisp lines and plenty of bright, long-lasting colors make Wheeling Centurydrain as handsome as it is economical.

Buying Income Streams for cash
—CASH ADVANCE PROGRAM—
Production Flexibility Contracts

If waiting for your Production Flexibility Contract payments is limiting your growth or holding you back on your plans, there is now a solution The CASH *NOW PURCHASE PROGRAM allows you to sell your future contract payments for cash dollars today The flexible nature of the program allows you to

- Sell all or part of your contract payments depending on the amount of cash you need now Since this is not a loan, no payments are due directly from you and the cash you receive now does not show up on your books as a loan
- Repurchase any remaining future payments due, if your needs change later
- Raise cash, typically within 30-40 days
- Sell payments on both owned and leased land operations
- Limit your primary responsibility to remaining in compliance with the Production Flexibility Contract Program
- Participate in a program that is deliberately designed to allow you full control of your operation. This includes provisions for selling your land, dropping out of the program, buying more qualifying land, and more.

To obtain more information and a written price offer, you need to proceed as follows

- Contact us. We will send a one page pricing request form. Provide us payment information about your production flexibility contract on the PFC pricing request form. Since we can buy all or part of your contract payments, you need to specify the amount of capital you need now We will prepare our offer based on your figures
- Upon acceptance of our offer, we will prepare contract documents for your signature
- Upon receipt of the signed contract documents from you, we will request any additional information needed and submit the necessary document to The Farm Service Agency for their acknowledgement.
- Once The Farm Service Agency acknowledgement has been received and other conditions of closing have been met, the agreed upon funds are wired to your account

It's that simple... To inquire further, call Dick Croyle: toll free 1-888-687-8491 office 717-284-3151 - mobile 717-575-5337.
